ODIES ARE GONE FOREVER

Bottom of Deep, Never To Leave It.

HAT'S VIEW OF PROFESSOR WOOD

ater Pressure Over Dead Is Tremendous.

Depth of Two Miles the Pressure of Water Is Something Like 8,000 Pounds to Square Inch, Which Is Too Great To Be Overcome by Buoyancy Ordinarily Given Drowned Bodies.

Baltimore, April 18.—"The bodies the victims of the Titanic are at bottom of the deep never to ve it," declared Professor Robert Wood, of the chair of experintal physics of Johns Hopkins iversity.

"It is altogether improbable that of the corpses will ever return the surface, as is the case with dies drowned in shallow water.

"At the depth of two miles the essure of the water is something 8,000 pounds to the square inch, uch is far too great to be overme by buoyancy ordinarily given owned bodies by the gases genered in time.

"That the bodies sank to the bottom of the sea there is no question," continued. "The Titanic's victims who were not carried down ith the boat follow to the very bottom of the sea. There was no such ing as their stopping in their ownward course a half mile, a ile, or at any other point.

"Great changes have necessarily een wrought in the vessel itself by e enormous pressure to which it as been subjected. No effect was roduced on any portion, or compartment, or room to whose inside s well as outside walls the water as access In such instances the pressure from one side neutralized it from the other.

"But wherever there was an airight or water-tight compartment ne 6,000 pounds to a square inch pressure of water has crumpled hose walls of the vessel as if they were tissue paper."

Heaven, Hell or New York.

Baltimore, April 18.—"Heaven, ell or New York in five days," is hat a captain on a New York liner old a tourist was his standing orders, according to Captain ohn J Lewis, an official of the undel Sand and Gravel company, ho has toured the world.

"One night, when returning from urope," said Captain Lewis, 'I ame out on deck It was so foggy hat nothing could be seen. The aptain of the ship was walking the eck and I approached him and aid

"'How fast are we going?'

"The master replied: 'Twenty-two miles an hour'

"'Is not that violation of the law?' asked The captain admitted it as

"'Then, I asked, 'why do you run fast through a fog?'

The captain replied:

"'My official standing orders are eaven, hell or New York in five days.'"

Nearing New York.

New York, April 18.—At 2:30 his afternoon the Carpathia was ff Montauk Point on the eastern ore of Long Island. Her wireless perator reported that there was a aze there, but no heavy fog.

Refuse to Be Instructed.

Mexico City, April 18.—The Mexican government refuses to recognize the right of the American government to instruct it on its duties in its observance of international law. This declaration is made in a statement by the Mexican miniser of foreign affairs, Manuel Colero, in a reply made to the demand of Assistant Secretary of State Wilson.

I and R. Resolution Defeated.

Boston, April 18.—The resolution for an initiative and referendum by amendment of the Massachusetts constitution was defeated in the house by a vote of 142 to 77, lacking four votes of the necessary two-thirds

THRONGS OF NEW YORKERS AWAITING NEWS OF THE FATE OF THEIR RELATIVES AND FRIENDS WHO WERE PASSENGERS ON THE ILL-FATED WHITE STAR LINER

TWO NATIONS PLAN PROBES

England and America Will Investigate.

LONDON BOARD OF TRADE IS STIRRED

More Life-Saving Appliances Are Urged.

Complete Assurance of Rigid Inquiry by Uncle Sam Is Shown by the Appointment of Sub-Committee To Probe Titanic Disaster. Senators Hurry to New York. Taft and Nagel Act.

London, April 18.—Official announcement was made in the house of commons today by Sydney Buxton, president of the board of trade, that the British government would make rigid inquiry into the loss of the Titanic. The investigation will involve the possibility of changing the transatlantic lane from the northern route, at least during the spring months, and the safeguarding appliances of present day passenger ships In making his announcement, Mr. Buxton said:

"Recently an advisory committee of the board of trade considered the matter of life-saving appliances on passenger ships, but the board was dissatisfied with the recommendations made and referred the matter back to the committee which had urged more lifeboats

Creates New Situation.

The present disaster, though, creates a new situation. It will be considered and, I hope, without panic The board can not do anything to discourage ocean racing for record, but the matter of routes and the loss of the Titanic will be subjected to the most searching inquiry."

The frightful loss of life on the Titanic has already borne fruit in the matter of additional life-saving appliances on passenger steamships. The Evening News announces that one of the biggest Atlantic steamship companies has placed orders to double the number of lifeboats carried, despite the fact that the present number exceeds the maritime regulations.

To Arrest All Officers.

Washington, April 18.—Every officer of the Titanic coming in on the steamship, Carpathia, will practically be placed under arrest the moment of arrival. A sub-committee of the commerce committee of the senate, which went to New York today, is armed with subpoenas whereby the officers and members of the crew will be arrested by force, if necessary, to testify in the investigation.

This extraordinary action on the part of the government is taken at the direction of the president and is the result of a report that the Titanic officials were planning to leave for England on another ship without giving the United States government time to question them.

It was reported at the navy department today that a wireless message had been picked up, sent by J. B. Ismay to the White Star line officials in New York, directing them to book passage for him on an outgoing steamer. It was the purpose, according to a report, of Ismay to trans-ship to this steamer and return to England without setting foot on American soil and thus escape a subpoena to appear before the congressional committees.

To Take Quick Action.

Washington, April 18.—As a result of the senate determination to make a drastic investigation of the disaster to the Titanic, Senator Smith chairman of the sub-committee of the senate committee on commerce, accompanied by several of his colleagues, left for New York today. Senator Smith will take action to prevent the return to England of the Titanic's officers in an attempt is made to spirit them out of the country immediately after the arrival of the Carpathia. Before leaving Washington, the senator conferred with the president and Secretary Nagel as to what lines the investigation should follow.

Secretay of Commerce and Labor Nagel will arrive in New York this evening from Washington to take personal charge of the immigrant station at Ellis Island on the docking of the Carpathia. He will pass summary judgment upon all cases so that the immigrants among the steerage passengers, all of whom are women, so far as now known, will not be detained.

Secretary Nagle was to have delivered an address before the New York produce exchange tonight, but he cancelled the engagement

To Get Statements.

Senator Smith will make arrangements to have surviving officers and crew of the Titanic come to Washington and make their statements before his committee if possible. He not only desires to get from them the tragic story of their terrible experiences, but to ascertain what provision there was aboard the vessel to aid in saving life and what efforts were put forth to take passengers off the sinking ship

Senator Smith said he would endeavor to have a conference with Managing Director Ismay, of the White Star line, and have him come to Washington. An official—the sergeant-at-arms of the senate—accompanied the committee for the purpose of subpoenaing such persons as it may be possible to bring to Washington Supervising Inspector of Steamboat Service Cpler also accompanied members of the committee to New York.

If it is necessary, the department of commerce and labor will place at the disposal of the committee a vessel to enable them to go out and meet the incoming Carpathia

A Thorough Probe.

Washington, April 18.—Complete assurance of thorough investigation of the Titanic disaster by the senate committee on commerce was given today. Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, chairman of the committee, appointed the following sub-committee, authorized by the Smith resolution passed by the senate yasterday: William Alden Smith, of Michigan chairman; Perkins, of California; Bourne, of Oregon; Burton, of Ohio; Simmons, of North Caro'ina; New-

GIVE UP LIVES AS SACRIFICE

How Noted Men on Titanic Face Death.

FINAL FAREWELLS MOST PATHETIC

Officers and Crew Show Great Calmness.

Many Women, Plunged from Gayety of Evening to the Hysteria of Death Panic, Are Carried Fainting to Lifeboats—Some of Survivors Said To Be in Delirium and May Be Permanently Insane.

New York, April 18.—While full details of the sinking of the White Star liner, Titanic, off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland have not yet been learned, sufficient has been gleaned from the fragmentary wireless messages which have seeped through scores of stations along the Atlantic coast to give a vivid impression of the scenes which accopanied the final plunge of the $10,000,000 floating palace. From these dispatches, the following features stand forth in the sea's greatest tragedy:

Noted men among the passengers sacrificed their lives that women, children and the helpless might live. Among them were Major A. W. Butt, military aide to President Taft; Colonel John Jacob Astor, multi-millionaire land owner; Isidor Straus, noted philanthropist; William T. Stead, the English journalist; C. M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk railroad; J. B. Thayer, millionaire railroad man; George B. Widener and many others.

The officers and crew behaved with heroism in the face of death. Captain E. J. Smith stood upon his bridge with folded arms as the liner took her final plunge. Many of the women passengers, plunged from the gayety of evening to the hysteria of death-panic, were carried fainting to the life-boats by members of the crew. Some of the survivors upon the Carpathia are in delirium as the result of the horrors through which they passed. Some may be permanently insane from the shock.

Mrs. Astor Is Ill.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor is seriously ill as a result of her frightful experience. Two hundred sailors, asleep in the forecastle of the Titanic when the liner crashed upon the berg, taking her to the bottom, were crushed to death or drowned like rats in a trap before they could lift a hand to save themselves. No others were saved except those picked up by the Carpathia, although other ships which heard the death call of the giantess dashed with all possible speed to the scene All they saw was ice and wreckage.

More than 100 of the survivors are in the hospital upon the Carpathia. None was able to save anything. Within a few minutes of the time the Titanic crashed on the ice mountains, her dynamos were put out of commission, leaving the ship in darkness. Soon the wireless power was cut off and the wireless operator could send no more.

Those in lifeboats saw dead bodies floating about in the wreckage, but so heavily laden were the craft that bodies could not be picked up.

The crash occurred during a ball in the grand saloon and many of the first-class passengers died in evening colthes. The Titanic was steaming ten knots an hour when the iceberg was struck.

Captain on the Bridge.

Because of the danger from ice and a fog-like mist which rose from the water, Captain Smith was on the bridge. The ship was almost upon the berg before it was sighted by the lookout. Captain Smith signalled full speed astern, but so great was the momentum of the vast vessel that she was carried against the ice with terrific impact.

The Titanic buckled upon the ice, the impact throwing nearly every standing person upon the ship to the floor Instantly there was great confusion

The roar of the churning water as it poured into the hull sounded like a cataract. The doors of the watertight compartments were slammed. The pumps were manned The lifeboats were lowered from their places.

Some of the passengers were killed in their berths If the ship had struck a wall of irresistible steel the damage could not have been greater. The forepart of the ship was smashed like pasteboard. Wireless Operator Phillips was at his key when the crash came. Instantly he began pounding out the distress call.

Phillips went down with his hand on the key His last despairing efforts were exerted to bring aid. H. S. Bride, second operator, was put in command of a lifeboat.

Colonel and Mrs. Astor had been expecting an heir this summer News of the serious illness of Mrs Astor led friends today to fear that disappointment would now take the place of hope.

Boats Sucked Under.

Brant Rock, Mass., April 18.—That some of the lifeboats being used to rescue the passengers of the Titanic went down with the mighty liner was the thrilling story told by a wireless dispatch sent from the Carpathia today and intercepted at the station here.

This message indicated that the officers of the White Star liner were communicating to their offices in New York city the details of the disaster. The message stated that the passengers were being taken off when the great boat went down. some of the boats, caught in the suction caused by the sinking of the liner, were overturned and dragged to the bottom of the Atlantic, making it impossible to succor all of even those who might have been accommodated by the lifeboats on the vessel. The message read:

"Passengers were being removed when the Titanic sank. Many lifeboats went down with the wrecked steamer. It was impossible to remove all of those on board in time. There was no other ship in sight."

To this message, which was sent from the Carpathia shortly before noon, was added this additional information:

"Heavy winds and fog, proceeding slowly."

HE SEES HAND OF PROVIDENCE

Pastor Richmond, Who Gains Notoriety in Boston,

OVER THE MARRIAGE OF COLONEL ASTOR

Draws Lesson from Latter's Tragic Death.

Divine Declares Death of Astor at Sea Preaches Great Gospel of God's Power to Us All—In Another World, Astor Will Do Penance—Pastor Says Calamity Ought To Be Lesson to Such Men.

New Haven, Conn., April 18.—In an interview here today, George Chalmers Richmond, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Philadelphia, who preached a sensational sermon last summer when the betrothal of Colonel John Jacob Astor and Miss Madeline Force was announced, is quoted as saying it was the hand of providence that sent Colonel Astor to his death on the Titanic. Rev. Mr. Richmond is attending a conference of alumni of the Yale divinity school here. He is quoted as follows:

"The death of Colonel John Jacob Astor at sea, in the going down of the Titanic, preaches a great gospel of God's power to us all. There are forces in life which demand recognition and obedience. Mr. Astor and his crowd of New York and Newport associates have for years paid not the slightest attention to the laws of the church or state which have seemed to contravene their personal pleasures or sensual delights.

Reckoning Comes.

"But you can't defy God all the time. The day of reckoning comes and comes not in our own way. In another world, Astor will pay penance. Without his millions and bereft of his great estate which yielded him his means for a continuous carousal, he will begin a new life. There are a lot more like Astor in New York and in Newport, but the number is decreasing. The only remedy is to set the moral standardsd so high that these men will not dare defy the laws of the country as these sensualists have done.

"This calamity ought to be a lesson to men like Astor Our sympathy for the dead causes us to stifle moral judgment for the men of high positions and the courses they should pursue."

Editor Mack Dead.

Sandusky, O., April 18.—I. E. Mack, editor of the Sandusky Register, died suddenly at noon today in Cleveland. He was formerly the commander of the G. A. R. in Ohio.

To Aid Survivors.

New York, April 18.—The stock exchange today passed a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to receive subscriptions for the survivors of the Titanic.

LINER WARNED OF ICEBERGS

Titanic Could Have Escaped Fatal Plunge,

BUT DOESN'T HEED WARNING FLASHES

Sent to Her by the Steamship Mesaba's Operator.

The Youthful Operator of Transport Steamer Explains How He Tells Titanic To Clear Away from Great Sea of Floating Icebergs, but That, While Responding "Thanks," for Warning, She Plunges Ahead.

New York, April 18.—With the arrival in port today of the Atlantic transport steamer, Mesaba, which left London April 6, it was learned that Stanley Adames, the eighteen-year-old wireless operator, Sunday last, only three hours before the Titanic collided with an iceberg, sent a warning to the Titanic telling of a great sea of floating icebergs through which the Mesaba had just passed The message flashed by wireless read:

"In latitude 42 to 41.25 north, to longitude 49 to 50.30 west, saw much heavy pack ice and great number icebergs. Weather clear."

In response to this message, the Mesaba received the single word: "Thanks," from the Titanic, showing that the warning had been received.

"I sent the warning message to the Titanic about 6.30 p. m. Sunday about three hours before she crashed into the berg that sank her," said Operator Adames. "At that time she was not in the ice and had a clear course.

"Had she heeded the warning she would have escaped. It was then daylight. The Titanic, however, apparently held on her course and entered the ice sea that night. It was pitch dark that night and the darkness was made worse by a blue haze that rendered the searchlight powerless.

"The terrible size and number of the bergs made me nervous for the Titanic which was only ninety miles behind us, but I dismissed all fear for her from my mind when her answer showed she had received my warning.

"I heard the Titanic send several messages addressed to Cape Race which were probably intended to be relayed, but I doubt if they ever reached their destination. I heard none of the Titanic's appeals for help as we were probably then out of range."

Astor's Death Confirmed.

Hearst Relief Tug, Scully, via Siasconset, Wireless Station, April 18.—Wireless communication between the Hearst tug and the Carpathia today confirmed the death of Colonel Astor. There are many members of the crew among the survivors. The members of the crew are to be shipped to Europe on the Cedric at once, White Star officials say in wireless dispatches. They say it would be unwise to keep them in New York too long.

The rescued passengers are sick and dazed by the fearful experience through which they passed. Many of them will be unable to tell coherent stories when they reach New York because of their physical and mental suffering.

All Hope Abandoned.

Philadelphia, April 18.—Hope that John B. Thayer, second vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, escaped death in the Titanic disaster, on which with his wife and their son, John B. Thayer, Jr., were passengers, has been virtually abandoned. It is reported that a wireless dispatch was received here today from Mrs. Thayer on the Carpathia, stating that her husband went down with the ship, but that she and her son were rescued.

Mr Thayer's mother is in a state of collapse and all news of the disaster is being kept from her.

Four Killed In Storm.

New Orleans, La., April 18.—Four persons were killed and considerable damage was done to property in several south Louisiana towns by electric, rain and windstorms. In the early crop district north of New Orleans, the damage will be heaviest, it is estimated Most of the damage was confined to towns just north or west of New Orleans.

Body Found.

Kent, O., April 18.—The body of Miss Emma Getz, member of a prominent and wealthy family, who threw herself into the Cuyahoga river here about two weeks ago, was found by William Cowley.

TAFT TO AID MEAT EATERS

Urges Better Inspection of Uncooked Pork.

HE SENDS SPECIAL MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Tells of Meats That Contain Trichinae.

The President Urges Favorable Action on Request Made by Secretary of Agriculture for Special Appropriation of $1,000,000 for More Rigid Inspection of All Uncooked Meats, Especially Pork.

Washington, April 12.—President Taft today sent a message to congress urging favorable action on the request made by the secretary of agriculture for a special appropriation of $1,000,000 for the better inspection of uncooked meats and especially those of hogs. His message was as follows:

"The secretary of agriculture, with my consent, has sent through the secretary of the treasury to the congress an estimate for an appropriation of $1,000,000 beyond the present permanent appropriation for the meat inspection service in the department of agriculture. The increase is necessary to enable the department to inspect microscopically the flesh of hogs that is to be converted into meat food products, which ordinarily are eaten without cooking. Several deaths have resulted from eating such products, which contained trichinae. The Swiss minister is now seeking reparation on account of the death and serious illness of several citizens of Switzerland.

Caused by Trichinae.

These deaths and serious illness, are believed to have been caused by eating American meat which contained trichinae. The department of agriculture has issued warning circulars and caused notices to be printed in the newspapers of the country concerning the danger of eating such uncooked products. The microscopic inspection of the flesh of all hogs would require increase of $4,000,000 in the appropriation. This act to make the microscopic inspection, but no money has ever been provided. Therefore, I urge upon the congress the appropriation of $1,000,000 for this purpose on the grounds of emergency."

HE MAKES ESCAPE FROM THE INFIRMARY

Blind Man Is Caught and Returned to Institution.

Joseph Knapper, sixty years old and blind, an inmate of the county infirmary, escaped from that institution at breakfast time, Saturday, through the assistance of Andrew O'Day, a simple-minded negro, and made his way uptown. Infirmary Superintendent Samuel Bader missed the blind man shortly after his disappearance and accompanied by one of the farm hands, came to the city behind one of the county's speediest driving horses.

Knapper had alighted from the car at the transfer a few minutes before the infirmary superintendent arrived. When Bader and the infirmary employe tried to induce the old man to climb into the buggy he declined and began to fight viciously. He was overpowered finally, but it took them fifteen minutes or more to place the old man in the buggy, while a crowd looked on. The strength exhibited by the blind man was amazing.

Knapper has been an inmate of the infirmary about nine months. A short time ago he ran away and got as far as Urbana, where he was captured and returned. The fact that he is blind enables him to gain the assistance and sympathy of people, who are always willing to pilot him about.

Superintendent Bader states that Knapper is dangerous at times and that he is compelled to keep him locked up for the protection of other inmates. He seems to have a mania for running away.

MOST APPALLING LOSS IN TITANIC TRAGEDY

The Atlantic is bridged with sympathy and sorrow today Two continents are shocked and grieved over the appalling disaster to the great new Tran atlantic liner Titanic and the horrifying loss of life The sea is claiming its toll every week somewhere the inevor able exaction of ocean navigation but the loss of three or four or a dozen or score of lives though con veying as much of grief and distress to those concerned is in the appalling tragedy of the Titanic no longer startles the world We are accus tomed to this toll of human life ex acted by the sea But the sinking of the Titanic with the awful loss of life and an unbelievable waste of property shocks and distresses all civilization Somehow we find our distress and disappointment magnified because of the failure of the latest and presumably best in ship building and the highest appliance of human intelligence to triumph over the danger of ocean travel

Advices are too meagre to get at the real explanation of the disaster The Titanic was the last thought the up to the-minute product of modern ship building She was the largest and most luxurious craft afloat She cost far into the millions She car ried an insurance of more than $8 000 000 on her maiden trip She carried a notible list of pas sengers She was believed to be equipped with every known device for safety and was presumably un sinkable Perhaps the recital of the story of her intensely tragic end will tell of excessive assurance of failure of the safety compartments to close perhaps solely of some great fatality In incomprehensible fore doom the foreboding of which the brave Cap tain Smith is known to have felt Since captain and crew have ill gone where the intrepid men of the sea ever find their burial when disaster attends we may never know the real truth One marvels that such a craft with such a cargo of human lives should be rendered pitiably helpless in collision with an ice berg Science and genius were sup posed to have put navigation beyond the danger of destruction from such a source where proper caution was observed We can hardly believe Captain Smith was incautious But one can not be sure The Titanic was on her initial trip It was her parade to the world Passengers are impatient when a liner drags in a fog or ice field The chance of collision is not one in a thousand and travellers are eager to see the ship push ahead Amid the luxury and joy of ocean voyage there is little thought of peril

What a marvel the great modern vessel and its community on board constitute! The Titanic had capacity for 3 00 passengers and a crew of a thousand It had nearly 2 00 souls on board might have lawfully carried 4 000 and would have listed that many in the rush months of travel That craft at sea had a passenger population as large as Prospect Caledonia and La Rue com bined and with her lists full she would have largely outnumbered Marysville or Upper Sandusky It is equivalent to the people of the aver age county seat at sea in one vessel The realization of such a precious cargo without considering the valu of the craft and freight would sug gest sacrifice of speed where the remotest risk is encountered But the travellers will not have it so In fog and ice fields the great liner is steaming ahead never slower than half speed and the mournful fog horn with its note of concern sel dom drowns the merriment of li brary or smoking room Ordinarily the pall of fog is outridden and there is not even a memory of danger But fate did not favor the Titanic Probably the horror might have been avoided but somehow there is a conviction of predestined mister tune And the accident is so fraught with loss of life is so appalling that all civilization is shocked and griev ed Perhaps in awful lesson is taught in the true details of dis aster but alas! it will be little heeded Night is naught to the Leviathans of the deep fog is little hindrance and the human procession will demand rushing on even on and on Calamity's hitting is a temporary thing

OHIO WILL STAND TRUE TO PRESIDENT TAFT

It would be idle to deny the dis appointment felt by the supporte of President Taft over the result of the Pennsylvania primarie The preference of the Republicans of the Keystone state for the Rough Rider has strengthened his candidacy and made it formidable The Roosevelt victory is not to be charged to fraud however nor to neglect on the part of the administration's followers It may be challenged as a reflex of Pennsylvania's consecration to pro gressive Republicanism and reform Pennsylvania Republicans have been dangerously split into two factions for two years and this struggl wa for supremacy In the control Colonel Roosevelt smiles delighted ly and says it is another triumph over the bosses If he had said over Boss Penrose no one could hav disputed But the Roosevelt am paign in Pennsylvania notably in the western half of the state was bas ted Boss finance and is a notable loss victory The significant fact to ponder is that Colonel Roose velt has united the offended Ip in terests called to account for vio lating the anti trust laws with the in dustrially discontented those who felt the law and those who would have no law have joined in th Pennsylvania triumph for Roosevelt The division in the Republican party made the victory possible

While the outcome makes the Roosevelt candidacy more formid able it by no means drives and the suppressors of the president will be stirred to greater endeavor Pennsylvania was not to the com mands of Mr Taft for years as Father Penrose's decisive state If Ohio Republicans join the ranks of unterrified ex ecutive Pennsylvania will be in ecstacies is unpromising But Ohio is more likely to join with New York and not necessarily Indiana and Kentucky The president is a son of Ohio Her loyalty will square deal friendly treatment of Republican leaders were involved But Ohio is more deeply concerned than her loyalty to favorite sons success Ohio Republicans are thinking of more than a third term in the presidency Our people are thinking of the need in the trying times of a man of courage and equipoise and highest ideals in the executive chair Most Ohio Republicans with wool growers and beet sugar growers forming a con siderable part of our industrial eminence with our cities forging to the front under the impetus of protected industries and with con fidence in President Taft as a na tional and consistent defender of the protective policy will surely rally to his support all the more earnestly and devotedly now

Ohio for President Taft and will say so officially May 21 And Ohio's vote to see him succeed himself as President of the United States

AN OLD PROCEEDING DISMISSED FRIDAY

Mandamus Proceeding of Three Years' Standing

SQUABBLE IN REGARD TO PURCHASE OF ROLLER

Mrs Ben G. Rutter Is Granted a Divorce on Her Answer and Cross-Petition and Is Awarded Alimony in Sum of $5 000—The Leffler Dead Proceeding.

A suit for a writ of mandamus commanding former County Auditor Charles L Allen to certify to the board of county commissioners the sum of $2 80o to be in the pike fund April 17 1909 was dismissed by Judge Daniel Babst, last Friday This suit was a sequel to the purchase of a road roller from the American Motor Road Roller company of Chicago by the county commissioners for $2,800 over the purchase of which at the time there was much newspaper discussion

Mr Allen, who was then auditor refused to certify that the purchase price was in the pike fund, and proceedings were then instituted, through Prosecuting Attorney Charles L Justice to compel the auditor to certify the amount as directed by the commissioners The commissioners at that time, September 1909, were William H Holverstott Joseph D Gillespie and Daniel Selter

September 23, 1909, Auditor Allen through Attorney John H Clark filed an answer in which he set up that the commissioners had disregarded the law and held that the road roller had been illegally purchased

At the time the roller was contracted for the pike fund contained about $8 000 or $9 000, but a few days later while Commissioner Holverstott was attending the Morrow county fair Commissioners Gillespie and Selter awarded some pike contracts and these reduced the pike fund below the purchase price of the roller

The result was that the commissioners had to be content until after the next tax collection time when they again endeavored to force the auditor to certify that the money was in the fund Meanwhile there had been a circuit court decision which applied directly to the local case This was to the effect that the auditor could do nothing else than certify that the money was in a certain fund if it was really there, and that it was not within the auditor's province to do otherwise Auditor Allen then certifed as commanded and the roller was purchased

The roller in question is the same one which has been allowed to stand out along the road side, unprotected all winter, as recently stated in the Star

The cause was dismissed at the costs of the plaintiffs

In the long contested divorce matter of Elsie Overdorff against Charles Overdorff Judge Babst Thursday, in dismissing the wife's petition decreed that the custody of the child should belong to the plaintiff and that the husband and father should be privileged to visit the little one at reasonable periods, and on the fourth Sunday of each month he should have absolute possession of it Each party to the action was ordered to pay the costs by them made

In the divorce matter of Ben G Rutter against Emma L Rutter, Judge Daniel Babst Friday morning, awarded the wife a decree of divorce on her answer and cross-petition of the husband Rutter is quite wealthy and resides at Prospect He charged his wife with gross neglect of duty and his wife alleged the same thing in her cross-petition Mrs Rutter was awarded alimony as agreed upon, the amount being $5 000

After taking additional testimony in the case of Margaret Lill and others against Anna Catherine Leffler and others Thursday afternoon Judge Babst told the attorneys to get together, and halted further proceedings Before leaving for his home in Crestline Friday the judge stated that he was taking the pleadings in the case home with him and that, if the two sets of children and the widow did not settle the dispute between them, he would

This is a suit wherein the children of Michael Leffler's first marriage are seeking to set aside a deed transferring 100 acres of land to their father's second wife claiming that he had been unduly influenced and that the land in question had been the property of their dead mother

The injunction matter of Joseph B Cusick against the late W C Wottring as county treasurer was submitted to Judge Babst Friday and the plaintiff was given leave to plead further by April 13 This was a suit begun in July, 1909, to prevent the collection of an assessment of $154 for the improvement of Main street by paving from Silver to Joseph street

The defendants being in default for answer or demurrer the injunction matter of Oliver H Neimeyer and others against James F Wottring, was submitted to Judge Babst, Friday morning on the evidence and the pleadings The court made permanent a temporary injunction restraining Wottring from asserting or attempting to assert a lien against property purchased by the plaintiffs from the Gist Sanatorium company of the Sulpho-Magnesia Springs Sanatorium company As an officer of the Prospect bank Wottring holds some alleged claim against the property purchased by the plaintiff

Catherine W Shuck through Attorney H Edmund Hill brought an action for a divorce from John T Shuck, an alleged wife beater, in the court of common pleas Saturday She charges that her husband struck and beat her with his clenched fist and that he threatened to take her life Last Tuesday according to the petition he choked and threatened to kill her

The Shucks were married in this city in 1895, and have one adopted child A temporary injunction restraining Shuck from interfering with his wife or the child or selling or encumbering their household goods was granted by Judge W E Scofield The Erie Railroad company by whom Shuck is now employed was also restrained from paying him his wages

Miriam Bertrand whose husband, James I Bertrand was killed in a dynamite explosion at the quarries of the Ohio & Western Lime company, January 4 Saturday through DeGolier & DeGolier effected a settlement with the corporation Mrs Bertrand received $2,100 She sued to recover damages in the amount of $10,000

The suit of Frank R Salter and others against the Grand Opera-House company and others has been assigned for hearing before Judge Daniel Babst, of Crestline, Monday, April 29

Saturday it was learned from attorneys in the equity proceeding of Margaret Lill and others against Anna Catherine Leffler and others an action to set aside a deed, that the plaintiffs proposed a settlement by dividing the 100 acres in dispute among the seven children and leaving the widow a life estate in the property This was turned down by the late Michael Leffler's second wife, Anna Catherine Leffler, and his three children by his second marriage the defendants

According to the testimony Michael Leffler's first wife owned 100 acres in her own name Before she died she made her husband promise to deed the land to their four children who are now the plaintiffs in the proceeding Three years after her death however he married again and later deeded the 100 acres to his second wife The children of his first marriage want the deed set aside on the ground that their father being a paralytic at the time the deed was made was not mentally competent

PEREMPTORY ORDER ISSUED BY CLERK

County Auditor Must Pay Ellis Katz Sum of $300.

JUDGE BRODRICK GIVES HIS DECISION

If Decision of the Court Is Not Reversed Former County Auditor May Be Obliged To Suffer the Loss of $140.99—Matter of McClung Against Auditor Spaulding.

Saturday, County Clerk W W Klinefelter issued a peremptory writ commanding County Auditor Jay Spaulding to make out a warrant in favor of Ellis Katz for $300. The writ was issued in compliance with an order from Judge John M Brodrick, of Marysville, who sat in the mandamus proceeding of Katz against former County Auditor Charles L. Allen.

If the decision is not reversed by the higher courts former Auditor Allen may be asked to pay the sum of $140.99 out of his own pocket, because he issued warrants on the county treasurer on demand of former Justice Harry C. Thompson. These warrants were issued in favor of Richard Gamble, James Bolinger and Frank Schrote, who got judgment in the justice court against Charles Koch, a former saloonkeeper. At the time Koch quit business he had $300 in the treasury coming to him as refund on his Dow tax. That was in 1907. Katz then brought his suit in mandamus against Allen to compel the payment of $300 to him, claiming that the money belonged to him and not to Koch. At the hearing he submitted evidence to prove that he had put up $500 Dow tax for Koch, who had used $200 of it when he closed his saloon. He claimed the auditor had no business to pay the justice's judgments, and asked the court of common pleas to give him judgment for the amount of $300.

Just before the matter came on for hearing a short time ago, Mrs. Orpha Koch, the divorced wife, asked that she be awarded the sum of $300, which amount was in her husband's name. She set up an unsatisfied alimony judgment of $2,500 obtained by her as a just claim.

In his typewritten opinion, Judge Brodrick held that Koch had made an assignment of the refund money to Katz, who paid the liquor assessment with his own private checks. The tax receipt was transferred to him by written assignment, the court says, and the auditor's records made to show that such an assignment had been made.

"I am, therefore, of the opinion that the county auditor and the county treasurer both had notice of the assignment of said right of refunder to the relator, and that the payment of any part of the same under the order of garnishment is not a defense to the relator's claim," the court's opinion concludes.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice, acting for the auditor, gave notice of appeal.

In the suit of the State of Ohio, on relation of the Clayton D. McClung against Auditor Jay Spaulding, the plaintiff, Saturday, filed an amended petition. He seeks to recover a damage claim awarded by the county commissioners as a result of damage done to land by the Little Scioto river improvement. The amount was paid to a former owner of the land and McClung avers that the claim was assigned to him.

In the civil action of William R. Kannel against Lulu Kannel, the defendant has been given leave to answer by May 18.

Laura L. Lester was granted a decree of divorce from W. L. Lester by Judge William E Scofield, last Saturday, after the remainder of the testimony was submitted, a part of it being heard by Judge Scofield a week ago. The decree was awarded on the ground of gross neglect of duty. The wife was awarded custody of the children and $1,500 alimony. The alimony is to be paid in installments of $20 a month, the first installment to be paid May 1.

George W. Haines was granted a decree of divorce from Alice Haines by Judge W. E Scofield, Monday, on the ground of three years' willful absence.

The plaintiff and the defendant were married in this city, June 26, 1901. Within less than a year, according to the husband's testimony, his wife deserted him.

Judge W. E. Scofield, Monday, allowed the plaintiff $35 a month temporary alimony in the divorce suit of Catherine W. Shuck against John T Shuck. Saturday, when the petition was filed, Judge Scofield issued a restraining order prohibiting the defendant from drawing his money from the Erie Railway company. Monday, this order was so modified as to make it possible for him to draw his money and to pay the amount of alimony stated

In the suit of Frank J. Weldy against Edmund S. Milligan, the defendant, through Attorney John H. Clark, has filed a motion to require the plaintiff to make his petition more definite and certain by setting out the terms of the written contract he refers to in his petition, or by attaching a copy of the contract to his petition as an exhibit.

A marriage license has been issued to Miss Cora D. Johnson and Walter E. Roberts, both of Prospect.

ACUTE MENINGITIS IS THE CAUSE OF DEATH

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Byers Lose Their Little Son.

Acute meningitis, superinduced by striking his head against the sidewalk in falling, and an infection of the bowels, caused the death of Donald Holmes Byres, aged six years, four months and twenty days, son of Mr. and Mrs Guy Holmes Byers, No 131 Garden street, Saturday evening at 7 30 o'clock.

Just two weeks ago Monday an infant son of Mr and Mrs Byers was found dead in bed between them. The little one had apparently expired without a struggle, choking to death as a result of phlegm gathering in the throat.

Little Donald was running and playing a short time ago when he fell and struck his forehead against the stone sidewalk. Dr L. D. Brady was called and attended him, and it was thought that he would recover nicely Complications of the bowels developed, however, and this brought on the fatal attack of acute meningitis.

The funeral services were held at the family residence Tuesday afternoon at 2 30 o'clock, and was private.

MRS. SARAH MOUNTS DIES SUNDAY MORNING

Death Comes After a Very Brief Illness.

Prospect, O, April 15.—[Special.]—Mrs. Sarah Mounts, aged seventy-three years, died at her home here Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. Last Thursday evening about 10 o'clock, Mrs. Mounts suffered a fall and since that time her condition had been very critical. She suffered serious hemorrhages of the stomach and had suffered strokes of paralysis.

Mrs. Mounts was the widow of Amos Mounts who died about sixteen years ago. One son, H. N. Mounts, survives. Three sisters also survive. They are Mrs. William Lewis, residing about three miles northwest of here and Miss Ellen Phillips who resides with her, and Miss Belle Phillips, of Marysville. She was a member of the Presbyterian church here and was a very lovable woman.

The funeral services will be held at the home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. C. M Chapin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment will be made at Prospect.

JACOB JONES DIES AT THE COUNTY INFIRMARY

Death Is Result of an Accident Suffered Recently.

Jacob Jones, aged ninety-three years, eight months and six days, died at the Marion county infirmary Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. His death was due to shock caused by breaking his hip, Saturday.

Mr. Jones, who was very feeble, fell on the floor at the home of his son, Joshua Jones, No. 799 Grant street, late Saturday afternoon. He was taken to the infirmary in the county's ambulance, but it was stated at the time that the shock probably would result in death.

Mr. Jones was a native of Pennsylvania and had lived in Marion county nearly three-quarters of a century. He was married in this county to Miss Anna Clay nearly seventy years ago, his wife dying twenty-years ago.

The deceased was the father of five children, all of whom are dead save Joshua Jones.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

RICHWOOD TEAM WINS GAME FROM PROSPECT

Opening of the Baseball Season at Richwood.

METHODIST PARSONAGE IS BEING REMODELED

Work Is Being Superintended by the Pastor, Rev. M. R. Stover. Matter of Ralph Moffett Against the Village of Richwood—Some Village Notes of Interest.

Richwood, O., April 16.—[Special.]—The baseball season was opened in Richwood, Friday afternoon, when the Prospect High school team played an interesting game with the local High school nine. The game was hotly contested throughout, the cheers of the rooters being heard all over the village. The visitors, although playing a good game, were defeated by the locals, the score being five to one. The opening game was the occasion of quite a demonstration by the High school, the classes being dismissed for the afternoon. The school band gave a concert on the public square, afterward marching to Chester park for the game. Besides the team, a number of visitors were present from Prospect.

Work has been started on the remodeling of the Methodist Protestant parsonage, on east Bomford street. The house is being raised and will have a new foundation and an addition will be made to the rear of the dwelling. The work is being superintended by the pastor, Rev. M. R. Stover.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Winters left, Thursday, for Columbus, to spend a few days with their daughter, Mrs. John C. Carroll. They will also visit another daughter, Mrs. Clarence Morris, of Canal Winchester, before returning home.

Miss Donna Mae Harriman left, Thursday, for Columbus, after a visit of three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Harriman.

J. E. Thompson, of Sea Breeze, Florida, spent Wednesday and Thursday with N. P. Westheimer and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Embrey.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Jones and daughter, Gladys, of Bellefontaine, have been the guests of Mr. Jones' mother, Mrs. Frank Ackerman, during the past week.

Mrs. Anne Mather has returned home from Akron, where she spent several weeks with her sons, Dr. E. L. Mather and N. O. Mather, and families.

Mrs. C. B. Snowden has been seriously ill of tonsilitis and rheumatism, during the past several days, requiring the services of a trained nurse.

A decision was rendered, Thursday, in the circuit court of Union county, in the case of Ralph Moffett, a taxpayer of Richwood, against the officials of the village, to prevent the improvement of Bomford street. The decision was in favor of the defendant and the petition of the plaintiff was dismissed at his cost. The motion for a new trial was overruled and the case is remanded to the common pleas court for execution. A similar decision was also rendered in the suit of Hazetta Drumm against the village to prevent the improvement of Bomford street. The town can now go ahead with the improvement, which was blocked by the above named parties. H. V. Spicer, of Delaware, represented the plaintiffs and City Solicitor Simons represented the defendant.

Mrs. T. P. Howells, of Columbus, spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. W. O. Woods, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Chambers, of McGuffey, have been the guests of relatives in and near Richwood, during the past few days. They will visit Mrs. Chambers' mother, Mrs. J. M. Kofforth, of Magnetic Springs, before returning home.

Mrs. Daisy Black, who was dangerously ill of peritonitis for several weeks, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Carr, of west Ottawa street, was taken to the home of her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Perkins, near Springdale, Friday. She is still under the care of a trained nurse, Miss Donohue, of Columbus, who accompanied her to Springdale

Miss Vera Willoughby, of Marion, has been the guest of her grandmother, Mrs Fry, of east Bomfordt street, during the past several days.

William Thornhill arrived in Richwood, Friday, from Trinidad, Colorado, where he spent several weeks with his wife, who is in Colorado for the benefit of her health. Mrs Thornhill is greatly improved as a result of her residence in the West.

Mrs. Sarah Moses, one of Richwood's oldest residents, is quite ill at her home just east of the village.

Rev W M Warjon, pastor of the Baptist church, spent the past week with relatives in Akron.

Mrs I M Heskins, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs Emma Jolliff, has returned to Richwood, after a visit of several weeks with relatives in Columbus

Mrs N M Baldwin has been seriously ill, during the past week, but is slowly improving.

W. I. Metcalf was a business visitor in Marysville, Thursday.

Mrs George Miles, a former resident of Richwood, has been seriously ill, during the past six weeks at her home in Piqua.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the M. P. church held its regular meeting, Friday afternoon, in the lecture room of the church and after the routine business had been completed, held a delightful social meeting. The members of the society had each earned a sum of money for a mission school in the South and they related their experiences in earning the same. Luncheon was served by the social committee.

FRIENDS ARE WORRIED AS TO H. S. SCOVILLE

Leaves the City in Very Mysterious Manner Saturday.

Many of the fellow workers and friends of H. S. Scoville, baggage-master at the union station, are considerably worried over his strange disappearance. Scoville left the city, Saturday night, on Erie train No. 7 He took with him a large trunk which he checked to Chicago.

Before leaving, Scoville left word with one of the employes at the baggage-room that in case any person made inquiry for him before 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning, to tell them that he was not feeling well. He did not inform any person as to where he was going or say anything about the time he would be back.

Scoville's wife made inquiry of some of the employes, Sunday, relative to the whereabouts of her husband, but they could throw no light on his absence. Scoville left everything in perfect order at the station. He has been an extremely hard worker and holds hundreds of good friends in the city who are deeply interested in his mysterious absence.

Some time ago Scoville informed one of the men at the station that he intended giving up his position as soon as the weather became warmer.

MRS. MARY WILSON DIES OF PARALYSIS

Death Is the Result of Illness of Five Years.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, aged sixty-nine years, two months and two days, wife of John wilson, died of paralysis at her home, No. 273 Pearl street, Saturday evening at 6.55 o'clock. She had been an invalid for four years.

Mrs Wilson was a native of Union county. She was the daughter of William Patrick and moved to Marion county in her girlhood. She was married to Mr. Wilson nearly half a century ago. Had she lived until December 27 she would have celebrated her golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Wilson moved to this city from La Rue with her husband about ten years ago. She is survived by her husband and seven children. The children are Mrs. R. H. Moore, Mrs. A. M. Hedges, Mrs. W B. Cornell and Mrs. Frank Treadmore, of Columbus; William C and Carey Wilson of LaRue, and J. M. Wilson, of Marion. She also leaves seventeen grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The funeral services were held at the home of William C. Wilson at LaRue, Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

A DRUNKEN WOMAN CAUSE OF TROUBLE

T. P. Hockinberger Goes to Rescue and Suffers Injury.

A young man, who gave his name as T. F. Hockenberger, had a severe gash cut over his right eye on north Main street, near George street, Saturday night about 9:30 o'clock, as a result of being struck by a glass globe hurled by an unknown negro.

According to the story of Hockinberger and his companion, Thomas Spencer, they heard a woman pleading with three negroes not to harm her. Thinking that the woman was white they went to her rescue and a general mixup followed. The woman, they say, proved to be black and considerably under the influence of liquor. The men were also intoxicated. Hockinberger and Spencer say Hockinberger went to the office of Dr. W. H Hinklin on west Church street, where he was given the necessary surgical attention.

DIES OF INANITION SUNDAY MORNING

Dr. and Mrs. V. C. Kissel Lose Little Daughter.

Helen, the one-day-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs V C. Kissel, of west Center street, died of inanition, Sunday morning at 3 o'clock. The remains were shipped to Bradford, Monday morning, where brief funeral services were held and interment was held.

Given His Liberty.

David H Salter, who was arrested on a charge of non-support at Georgesville, Franklin county, was released from jail, Saturday night, after his wife, Alta, had withdrawn the affidavit against him. Salter's wife paid the costs incurred by Humane Officer J W. Ulsh in going to Georgesville to get him. Salter agreed to live with his wife and support his family.

Deal Closed Monday.

Monday, a two-story brick business block at No. 127 south Main street, occupied on the ground floor by Harvey E Klinefelter's grocery, was sold by Jacob Rauch, the owner, to Henry and Mitchell Strelitz. The deed filed for record in the office of County Recorder Edward F. Tittlebaugh gives a consideration of $20,000. The deal had been pending several weeks.

THE ERIE SUFFERS A WRECK LAST MONDAY

ENGINE AND SEVEN CARS ARE OVERTURNED

Engineer Harry D. Mankin Suffers Bruises and Scratches — Other Trainmen Slightly Injured by Jumping into the Scioto—Erie Train in Heavy Hail Storm.

A point about three-fourths of a mile west of Erie MJ tower was the scene of a serious wreck, about 2 o'clock Monday morning, when eastbound train, No. 74, running as a sixth section of train, No. 52, ran into the rear of the fifth section of No. 52. The engine and seven cars of the first named train were overturned, some of them into the waters of the Scioto river. Harry D. Mankin, the engineer on the train, was somewhat bruised and suffered several scratches, but did not require surgical attention. He, with other members of the crew, when they saw that a collision was inevitable, jumped into the water to save themselves. Some received minor cuts and bruises in the fall.

The fifth section of No. 52 was standing, at the time of the wreck, waiting to gain an entrance into the yard, and just preceding this train a fourth section of the train was standing for the same purpose. For some reason the sixth section, which was following, was not under immediate control and dashed into the caboose.

All of the cars were heavily loaded and the loss will be great. One solid car of wheat and another of flour will be almost a total loss. The other cars, loaded with various materials, were badly damaged and overturned into the waters. The big engine drawing No. 74 was turned on its side in the water.

The wrecking crew was summoned from this city as soon as a call could be sent in and the men were busy until 9 o'clock Monday morning in clearing the track. The wreck caused much delay. Considerable difficulty was experienced by the men on the wrecker in replacing the cars.

After clearing the tracks so that traffic could be resumed, the wrecker cleared up the wreck.

A panic was narrowly averted on Erie passenger train, No. 4, Sunday evening, when in a most unusually severe hail storm many of the windows on the south side of the train were broken as the train was pulling into Kenton. Several passengers from this city were on board and they say that the hail stones were almost as large as hen's eggs. As the stones struck the windows they scattered the glass in every direction. G. Shemmer, who claimed to have been enroute from Chicago to New York where he was to take passage on a steamer to Europe, suffered two very severe cuts on the face as a result of being struck by broken glass. He was brought to this city where he was transferred to the Marion City hospital in the Hess & Markert ambulance where he was given the necessary attention by Drs. A. and H. S. Rhu, the company surgeons. So severe was the hail storm that John Cull, the conductor, stopped the train and an effort was made to quiet the fears of the passengers. Many were struck on the head by the big stones and suffered bruises, but with the exception of Shemmer, none were seriously injured. The train arrived in this city about an hour late and attracted a great deal of attention About thirty-six window panes were broken including those in the engineer's cab and the headlight of the engine.

MEN WHO LEAD.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for April 21 Is, "Appointment of the Twelve." Mark III:7-19. Golden Text, John XV:16.

Anybody who closely follows the religious trend of our time sees that the fashion runs toward expensive buildings. Individuals, local congregations and national organizations are putting their money into steel and stone. In New York City alone there is afoot a canvass for $4,000,000 for new buildings for the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations Already mutterings are heard which indicate a widespread revolt against this fashion We are over-emphasizing the tool rather than the worker, for, after all, a building is but an appliance to be used by consecrated men

It takes no gift of prophecy to perceive that the deeper tendency among Christian leaders is back toward the Christ way of making disciples, and putting into everyday men and women new ideas and new purposes; and then trusting them to find ways of making over the world A man is bigger than a church steeple, and his kingdom-capacity is greater than an apartment house and gymnasium and school combined Back to man," will be the new cry The elemental human resources that God has used from the beginning still remain the chief dependence of the kingdom of heaven The lesson upon the call of the twelve apostles is timely and capable of significant development in the right hands

Men and Religion Method.

While this lesson is being studied, there is in session in New York City the Christian Conservation congress of the Men and Religion movement. Great meetings are being held, great speeches are being made, and monumental reports are being delivered by the various commissions

But perhaps the biggest fact of all is that the organization behind the Movement perishes with this congress. In splendid self-abnegation, the committee of ninety-seven pass away at the hour of their greatest achievement. They have done a noble work in the history of American churches, and now they have the grace and courage to efface themselves.

What means this unexampled procedure? Nothing else, fundamentally, than that these men have been in the school of Christ. They have learned that it is not a new organization, but new men that the world and church need. So the men and religion representatives have gone up and down the land, lodging new ideas in men's minds and new purposes in their hearts. They have made disciples wherever they have gone. Tens of thousands of laymen date the beginning of their Christian activity from the visit of the men and religion speakers

Now by these disciples the movement stands or falls. If they are true to their vision and purpose, the result will be a reanimated Christianity in North America, and the Men and Religion movement will have succeeded.

There is no blinking the fact that these clamant times demand something radical of the church. The realization of new opportunities has brought a new urgency, and a new sense of the immediateness of the duty of the church to rise to this fresh occasion. There never has been such call upon the forces of religion by social, political and economic conditions as today.

Sensing the Need.

Realizing this, certain zealous persons would turn the church into a debating club or a charitable relief society. Others would shatter all ecclesiastical organization, and quickly merge the various bodies into a colorless entity.

A better way has been shown by the United Presbyterian denomination. There the men have taken hold of the old organization with a new vision and have vitalized it. They have permeated the entire denomination with their modern purposes. The wonders of achivement which they have wrought are causing all Christendom to marvel. The single accomplishment of raising $1,000,000 within the month of March, 1912, by an every-member canvass is without precedent.

After all has been said about these modern methods, however, it is plain that the United Presbyterians have simply followed the oldest and best authenticated of fashions—they have called men into a new allegiance. These men have accomplished results. Which fact but points the lesson that the day's need is a need of men.

The Crowded Christ.

So serene and poised was the Master and so free from the distraction of the cares that thronged His days that we forget how really crowded with work He was. Observe the recurrence in His biography of the single phrase, "a great multitude," which followed Him He literally was pressed by people. They impaired His liberty of action; they robbed Him of rest; they made Him a servant of the poorest and the neediest.

And what needs that throng embodied! Jesus seemed to be the focus of all the sin and suffering and woe and want of His world. Every mas with a burden or a grief crowded toward Christ.

Physically it was impossible for Him to minister to all who needed Him, or to carry His message to all the places ready for it. Then, as now, He must go on the feet of His friends if He would run all the errands of the Father. He is in this our Exemplar. There is scant wisdom in trying to do a great work alone. We must all learn to labor with people. If leaders, we must utilize helpers and train them to their highest efficiency. The responsibility that comes to us we must distribute. Every leader should multiply himself by his disciples Thus, in the purpose of Christ, His college of apostles became Himself twelve times repeated

Possibilities of Plain Men.

Jesus did not wait for geniuses The difference between a good executive and a second rate one is that the good executive can take the material in hand and utilize it effectively The second rate man goes about whining over the lack of competent helpers We are prone to be mistaken in our estimate of the apostles, for we see them in the ripeness of their power and service When they were called by the Lake of Galilee they were amazingly like you and me All of them were average, everyday folk, without much social poise or polish. Most of them were more at home in a lumbering, fish-odorous boat than in a palace or in "good society." Let us get hold of this great truth Analyze the list of the twelve, and in temperament and in training they are seen to be common folk: more common than the average of delegates at any religious convention today

We are prone to boast of the big names who adorn our churches and religious organizations We are proud of the rich and famous laymen who are on our lists The exaltation of the merely wealthy or prominent men to preeminent places in church work has reached an absurd length. Those who have worked with them have come to see that these are not the men who make things go The example of Jesus rises up to remind us that His source of supply, the every-day folk who toil, is still at hand. Why should our secretaries spend their time trying to beguile a reluctant hour or two from a busy man of affairs, when there are virile, forceful young men with unoccupied time in all our churches waiting only the call to leadership?

The amazing fact about the whole story is what Jesus can do with an ordinary man. We talk much of the self-made man, but he is not to be compared with the Christ-made man. The most ordinary person, plus Christ, becomes an extraordinary person. The twelve untutored, rustic Galileans, about whom we study today, became the statesmen of the world's greatest empire That group of Syrian peasants have changed all the history of the race, and are still at work in our own time Their achievements throw into the shade those of Alexander and the Caesars

The High Call.

Garibaldi summoned his recruits to long marches, to hunger, to privation, to wounds, to death His followers leaped in heroism to the high summons So it is no easy allegiance that Jesus offers to His disciples He calls men and women into a service that is as hard as it is holy. He bids them give themselves to the difficult task of being salt for the salvation of society As salt is ever in danger of losing its savor, so Christians are subject to the constant temptation of losing their saltness,—their uniqueness their power to preserve, -because they become like the lump they are meant to leaven

Likewise Jesus bade His disciples to be the lights of the world Then as now the salvation of a neighborhood and of a state depends upon the righteous men No nation can live without the lives that are light and that are salt. These are the hope of our time. No city can get so bad that even a handful of true disciples cannot redeem it. Ten righteous men would have saved Sodom The day's need is voiced by the hymn of the brotherhoods.

Jesus calls us o'er the tumult
Of our life's wild restless sea
Day by day His sweet voice soundeth
Saying, 'Christian, follow Me'
"As of old, apostles heard it
By the Galilean lake,
Turned from home and toil and kindred,
Leaving all for His dear sake."

The British board of agriculture, it is stated, is about to establish a national testing station where all British-raised cattle will be examined before they are exported Representations as to the desirability of so doing have come from many sources, especially from South Africa and from some of the South American Republics

SAYS PRESIDENT TAFT DESERVES RENOMINATION

Walter Fisher Progressive, Praises the President

THE COUNTRY NEEDS PRESIDENT TAFT AGAIN

Fisher Declares Taft Has Demonstrated Conservative Statesmanship and Great Ability To Handle Problems That Confront Government—Taft's Ideals Praised.

Washington April 18—Secretary of the Interior Walter L Fisher, lose personal friend of Theodore Roosevelt and leader, in civic life, during the Roosevelt regime of the conservation movement so well exemplified officially by Mr Roosevelt Mr Pinchot and others has made a public statement in which he again asserts his adherence to the principles of progressive Republicanism and advocates the renomination of President Taft because of his progressive achievements in this administration Mr Fisher said

Every presidential election is of great importance The one which is approaching seems to me especially to involve far reaching consequences The country is face to face with social economic and political problems of the greatest difficulty and complexity Through a long process of agitation and discussion the existence of these evils has been brought home to the people so that few are left to deny the reality of their existence or the seriousness of their consequences The people are determined that old abuses shall no longer be endured Whether the remedies will be wise o unwise constructive or destructive depends largely upon the choice of the next chief executive of the nation Most of all I think it depends upon the choice of the Republican nominee

Taft Has Ability.

I believe that nominee should be President Taft first because he believes in popular government to be achieved through the principles of representative democracy by means of which alone genuine and enduring popular government can be secured for the people of this country second because he has demonstrated constructive ability at a time when constructive statesmanship is needed as never before since the republic was founded and third because upon the principles which he has advocated and upon the progress he has achieved the Republican party must stand at the election His whole ambition has been and is to render disinterested and effective public service His ideal of public service is the promotion of the welfare of the whole people Under the most adverse conditions in spite of misunderstanding misrepresentation and abuse he has demonstrated courage patience and ability and has made real and definite progress both in legislation and administration He has known that he is more interested in curing evils than in denouncing them is moving steadily and surely forward than in talking about the desirability of moving forward These it seems to me are the qualities peculiarly needed now in the presidential office '

SATURDAY LAST DAY FOR FILING PETITIONS

The Requirements of the Law in the Matter

Saturday will be the last day for filing of petitions by candidates for nomination at the primary election, May 21 according to James F Messenger secretary of the board of elections The law requires that the petitions must be filed thirty days before the day of election so that the last day properly would fall on Sunday April 21 Petitions have been filed by candidates for practically every office with the exception of a candidate on the Republican ticket for county treasurer This vacancy will likely be filled soon, however it is stated

CAMPAIGN FOR THE CLEANING OF THE CITY

The Health Board Is Anxious That Cleaning Be Complete

AN ORDER ISSUED BY BOARD OF HEALTH

People Doing Cleaning May Pile Certain Rubbish in the Streets and Alleys and It Will Be Hauled Away by the City Teams—Plans for Thorough Cleaning

Tuesday, April 30 will be the last day of the cleaning campaign which has been going on for the past two weeks in the city The un-anitary condition of the city is well known to all residents and the board of health is anxious to assist in making the city one of the most sanitary in this part of the state It is not only the streets and alleys that need attention but in a great measure the yards and vacant lots which are under the jurisdiction of the board of health

The board has ordered that every yard and vacant lot within the city limits be thoroughly cleaned by the tenants, real estate men or owners of the property and the owners are requested to see that the order is complied with All unsanitary vaults chicken coops or rabbit pens should be reported to the health office and if the requirements to put the property in a sanitary condition are not me the work will be done by the board at the expense of the property owner or tenant

By consent of the mayor service director president of council and president of the board of health people doing cleaning may put their rubbish on the street or in the alley convenient for the city's teams to call for it However garbage or slop should not be mixed with rubbish cans or ashes as no putrid substance will be accepted at the quarry The clean up must be started at once as the teams are limited and can not travel the same streets and alleys more than once

To successfully carry out the crusade against the conditions will require the co operation of every citizen The ministers and teachers in the schools are requested to speak relative to the clearing up of the city As April 28 has been set apart for the physicians and ministers of the United States to speak on the subject of tuberculosis it is hoped that the ministers and physicians will work in Marion to show the danger of the unsanitary condition which exists and encourage the cleaning movement

LA FOLLETTE AND PINCHOT AT ODDS

They Wrangle Over Definition of the Progressives

Washington April 18—Senator Robert M La Follette of Wisconsin who is generally recognized as the presidential candidate of the genuine Progressive Republicans and Gifford Pinchot, spokesman of Theodore Roosevelt, who is charged by the La Follette men with trying to usurp Senator La Follette's right to his title under false pretenses have come to wordy warfare over the meaning of the word progressive

Senator La Follette recently charged Pinchot with having deserted him for Roosevelt Pinchot replied in an open letter saying that Senator La Follette's unreasonable attitude toward him had made it utterly impossible for any progressive Republican candidate meaning either La Follette or Roosevelt to win in this campaign Senator La Follette contended that he stood for certain well defined progressive principle and does not recognize Colonel Roosevelt as standing for these principle

The saddest part of the disclosure is that the men who stood sponsor for the La Follette platform and candidacy three months ago are now charged by their old leader with lack of fidelity to boil principles and candidate and that they are now merely infatuated with a brilliant personality The wide divergence in opinion between the two group as Mr Pinchot thus denominates them is one the Social the term is already making itself felt in bitter words and actions in several of the Middle Western state The row recalls to mind a age remark of Abraham Lincoln of whom much has been said by Mr Roosevelt in this campaign Lincoln said

When men wrangle by the mouth with no certainty that they mean the same thing while using the same words it perhaps were as well if they would keep silent

ROOSEVELT MEN VIOLATE LAW

Bolters Have No Standing Before Courts of Michigan

Washington April 18—In keeping with their general program of bolting contesting and otherwise making trouble where ever they can not win the Roosevelt forces in Michigan after having been fairly and honestly defeated in a primary contest bolted the Wayne county convention in Michigan which includes the city of Detroit Having suffered repeated defeats all over the state the only hope of the Roosevelt following had of beclouding President Taft's title to the delegates at large was to bolt and contest just as they did in Indiana and Kentucky raise a cry of fraud and otherwise seek to cover up a most crushing defeat

In this instance however the Roosevelt leaders overlooked the important fact that the courts of Michigan have laid down a definite ruling with respect to bolters in conventions In this instance the bolters who numbered about one fifth of the entire convention left the hall before any organization had taken place thus placing themselves in the position of taking no part whatever in the proceedings of the regularly called convention As a result the Roosevelt delegates have thus defeated themselves

The threat of some of the Roosevelt leaders to bolt the Chicago convention if Mr Roosevelt is not nominated is all buncombe This threat is being handed around for no other purpose than to scare Taft delegates into the belief that the Republican party is really on the verge of disruption Such talk is non sense and is having no effect what ever except to make the originators of the suggestion ridiculous President Taft will have a majority of the delegates from the North South East and West for him at Chicago and furthermore he will have a large majority of the uncontested delegates in the convention How the opposition expects to wriggle out of a situation like that except to come into camp like good Republicans is beyond the comprehension of all sane men

FRIENDS BELIEVE MISS CARR MARRIED

Cards Are Received by Marion Friends Thursday

Postals were received here Thursday from Miss Pearl Carr who left Marion Tuesday night for Chicago, which lead her friends to believe that she was married in that city Wednesday Before leaving Miss Carr gave several of her most intimate friends the impression that she was going to Chicago where she expected to be married Wednesday, to Mr Albert Johnson of Pennsylvania and from there they would go to Kansas City to make their home The cards did not state that she had been married, but said that they would soon be on their way to Kansas City They were simply signed 'Pearl" She was accompanied by her mother Mrs Emma Gaskell but her friends here believe she was married before leaving for Kansas City

Miss Carr for some time has been one of the most efficient clerks on the first floor of Frank Brothers & Company's store and has a host of friends in Marion Mr Johnston was formerly employed in the Marion Steam Shovel shops in this city

THE JURY DISAGREES IN A DAMAGE SUIT

David I. Garfield Sues John W. Klinefelter.

FALSE IMPRISONMENT IS BASIS OF CLAIM

Jury Deliberates Several Hours and Reports to Court That It Is Unable To Agree—The Petit Jury Is Dismissed for Term — Common Pleas Court Notes

At 1 40 Thursday morning, a disagreement was reported by the jury which heard the evidence in the $1 000 damage suit of David I Garfield against former Police Chief John W Klinefelter for false imprisonment The case was notly contested by Klinefelter who employed Harmon & Thomp on Carhart & Warner and George T Geran as his counsel J Wilbur Jacobs was the attorney for Garfield who claimed that he had been held three days in a filthy cell without a warrant

Former Police Chief Klinefelter alleged that Garfield had been legally held and introduced testimony to uphold his claim

The jury went out to deliberate Wednesday afternoon at 3 o clock The first ballot stood seven to five for the plaintiff Fifteen ballots were taken during the long hours the jurors deliberated showing that the case had been much argued The ballots usually stood seven to five or eight to four for the plaintiff

Judge A P Scofield received the report and discharged the jurors after having been informed by the foreman that it was impossible for them to reach an agreement

The jurors were Alexander Hill David Martin T J Bolton Henry Monahan W J Fish William Seifert Judd Lewis Lee Schoenle S H Grant J D Pettit Henry F Pehner and F A Schloefer

The petit jury has been dismissed for the present term of court The May term will begin Monday May 13

The old suit of Ira F Mc Ieson against Job C Mann and others has been settled out of court the costs of the defendants This was an action on a note for $300 alleged to have been given in 1885 Suit was begun in the court of common pleas, September 14, 1907

In the suit of Frank R Salter and others against the Grand Opera House company and others the plaintiffs through Cissinger & Guthery Thursday made a court demand of the defendants for an inspection and permission to take a copy of all checks receipts vouchers bank deposit books records ledgers, capital stock and all records of the company or any wise appertaining to its business during the time of its operation

A motion filed at the same time by the same attorneys asks the court to strike from the files and dismiss the defendant's motion to vacate the order appointing John A Huber as receiver for the company It is claimed that the defendants motion should be dismissed for the reason that the Grand Opera House company did not authorize its filing because it was filed at the instance of M J Sullivan who has no interest in the company either as a creditor or a stockholder and because the company now has only two directors and only so had at the time suit was begun in the court of common pleas

PERKINS FURNISHES ROOSEVELT FUNDS

With Two Others He Contributes Thousands of Dollars

Albany N Y April 18—Elliott Hundington Hooker the treasurer of the Roosevelt league Wednesday filed with the secretary a statement of the expenses incurred in securing delegates for Roosevelt to the national Republican convention The total of the contribution is $49 125 75

George W Perkins Frank A Munsey and Alexander S Cochran each contributed $10 000 towards the expenses Among othe contributors were George Baxter, $5 000 Oscar Straus $500 and R P Perkins $1,000

The league also received in small amounts $750 Perkins and Munsey prior to the primaries, contributed each $10 000 and eventually there was a deficiency as April 9 the league raised $12 000 more Munsey and Perkins each giving up $5,000 All he money was spent for office help and in small amounts for campaign purposes

Unable to locate definitely whether her sister and brother-in-law were aboard the mighty ocean greyhound, Mrs. Baillis, Wednesday, departed for New York, where she will take her place in the great teaming throng of rich and poor, reduced to a common level by the one touch of nature that makes the whole world kin—the line of mourning relatives and friends that reaches to the offices of the White Star steamship line.

Mr. Baillis is quite well known in this city. He is the manager of the Marion branch of the Cleveland Trinidad Paving company, of Cleveland. Mrs Davison, his sister-in-law, who it is feared may have been lost with her husband aboard the Titanic, has a number of friends here, having visited here several years ago.

A marriage license has been issued to Miss Emma Myers, of Pleasant township, and Charles William Pilmer, of Green t'amp.

JAMES H. EYMON FOR PROBATE JUDGE

Popular Attorney Files Petition for Primary Nomination.

Attorney James H. Eymon has filed a petition, getmonsly signed, as a candidate for the Republican nomination for probate judge. With no other candidate in the field Mr Eymon's nomination is assured, but he would be strong in a large field of aspirants. He is an able attorney, he is immen-ely popular personally, and eminently fitted for the office. Mr Eymon needs no boost for his undisputed primary race, but his nomination will appeal strongly for support at the polls next November.

Marion Boy Honored.

William Curran, son of Rev. J. P. Curran and a graduate of the local High school, who is attending Denison college at Granville, has been highly honored by being elected editor of the Denisonian, the college paper. Besides the honor connected with the position, it carries with it a nice compensation.

THREE MEN ARE LANDED IN THE CITY PRISON

Fights Follow Robberies and Filing of Affidavits.

A STRANGER CLAIMS THAT HE IS ROBBED

Says He Loses Watch and Money in Barber Shop—Locked Up on a Charge of Intoxication — John Redding Arrested for Assaulting John W. Kraus—Police Notes.

As an outcome of James Lewis Snyder filing affidavits against Ben Briggs and his wife, both colored, charging them with touching him for $180, and the filing of affidavits against Snyder and Benjamin Houseworth by James H Harmount, who accused them of touching him for his roll of $180, Snyder, Briggs and Harmount were arrested, about 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, by Chief McDonough, Officers Cusick and Babcock.

When arraigned before the mayor Wednesday afternoon, Snyder and Houseworth entered pleas of not guilty and their hearings were set for Thursday afternoon. Snyder was ordered over his loss, alleged to have been suffered at the hands of Briggs and his wife, while Harmount wanted to get even with Snyder and Houseworth Wednesday evening. Harmount went to Houseworth's place on north Main street where he was given a beating by Snyder Briggs then entered, and as a result Snyder having filed an affidavi; against him, trouble followed.

Briggs, being a man of enormous size and of great strength, Snyder received the worst of the fight and had to be taken to a surgeon to have his head dressed Briggs claimed that Snyder drew a gun on him, and that after he took the gun away from Snyder he gave him a whipping. Others in the place claim that Snyder was wiping his nose when Briggs struck him and that he never pulled the revolver from his pocket. Thursday, the three fellow were arraigned before the mayor to answer charges of intoxication All entered pleas of guilty and each was fined five dollars and costs The hearings of Briggs and his wife, on the charge of touching Snyder for the money, was continued to a later date.

A stranger who gave his name as Gordon, called at police headquarters Thursday morning to complain that he had been touched for his watch and several dollars in money while in a barber shop on north Main street As the fellow was so much under the influence of drink that he was unable to tell where the shop was Officer Cusick took him to the city prison and locked him up on an intoxication charge. Gordon gave his home as Columbus.

John Redding was arrested in the West End, about 1.30 Thursday morning, by Officers Slagle and Powell on a charge of assaulting John W. Kraus, a night clerk at the Hotel Victoria. That morning Kraus appeared before the mayor and filed an affidavit against Redding When arraigned Redding pleas guilty to striking Kraus, and the mayor fined him $10 and the costs in the case, and ordered that he stand committed until the fine and costs are paid. He was returned to the prison and is being held pending payment of the amount.

W. E. Holstetter, who was arrested here Wednesday morning by Officer Thompson and held for the Gahon authorities, being wanted there on a charge of defrauding a boarding-house keeper out of a bill of $7.25, was taken to Gahon by an officer from that place, Wednesday evening. Holstetter is being held there in default of payment of $16.85, the amount of the bill and the costs in the case. In case he is unable to pay, he will probably be sent to the workhouse.

Marion People See Ship.

Judge and Mrs. William E. Sebald saw the mighty White Star liner Titanic, when it was being built at Belfast, Ireland, during their trip abroad last year. Their trip to Belfast, with its world-famous shipyards, was one of the most interesting experiences of their tour through Ireland, Scotland, England and Norway. By reason of having seen the ill-fated ocean greyhound in the making, its sinking with its hundreds of human lives, aside from the horror of the catastrophe, was of peculiar interest to them.

Russell Funeral.

The remains of Clyde, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Russell, residing at Mark and Patton streets, were shipped to Pomeroy for interment Thursday after Health Officer Addison Bain had thoroughly fumigated the Russell home. The child died of septic poisoning, superinduced, according to the attending physician's statement, by scarlatina For a long time it was not known that the child had been afflicted with a contagious disease and it is feared that a number of children have been exposed.

FAMOUS CHIMES AGAIN RING OUT

Making Joyous Music in Ears of Venetians.

CAMPANILE OF ST. MARK'S DEDICATED

Most Impressive Ceremonies in Venice.

Work of Restoring Great Belfry Is in Progress for Ten Years, the New Campanile Being Replica in Every Respect to Old One, Which Collapses After Standing 900 Years—Pope Interested.

Venice, Italy, April 25.—With elaborate and impressive ceremonies and in the presence of distinguished men from all parts of the world, the restored campanile of St. Mark's cathedral was dedicated today. After ten years of silence, the historic chimes once again rang out from the great belfry, making joyous music in the ears of all Venetians. But to no one perhaps in all Italy is the knowledge of the restoration any more welcome than to Pope Pius, whose love for the ancient church and its chimes is a source of deep pride to Venetians

The patriarch of Venice presided at the ceremonies which were held in the cathedral. Among those in the congregation was J. Pierpont Morgan, while Prince Henry, of Prussia, was present as the personal representative of Emperor William of Germany.

Hundreds of tourists from all parts of Europe flocked to Venice to witness the inauguration and hear the music of the restored chimes.

The work of restoring the campanile has been in progress for about ten years, for it was July 12, 1902, that the mighty tower crashed into the plaza that fronts the cathedral. Just as the collapse of the architectural wonder was a national grief, so today the inauguration was an event calling for national rejoicing.

The old campanile was 900 years old and the new is a replica in every respect. The highest skill obtainable was secured to replace the wondrous tower; neither time nor money being spared

Even Wine Is Harmful.

Ithaca, N. Y., April 25.—College students should be total abstainers from alcohol, said President J. G. Schurman, of Cornell university in an address here. Even a small glass of wine a day is harmful, he said, for it was only recently—five years later—that the bureau of corporations was gathering material for Attorney General Wickersham's proposed prosecution of the trust.

The introduction of this documentary evidence in the senate marks the beginning of an aggressive personal campaign on the part of President Taft against his predecessor.

Requested by Democrat.

It is true that the information was sent to the senate as the result of the passage of a resolution introduced by a Democrat, Johnson of Alabama, but the president's friends undoubtedly had knowledge that such a resolution was to be introduced. In less than three hours after the passage of the resolution all of the documents on file in the department of justice, including Roosevelt's confidential letters, were laid before the senate. The publication of these letters will be followed tonight by a speech by President Taft in Boston which will be a severe arraignment of Roosevelt.

After President Roosevelt had held up the harvester suit at the request of George W. Perkins, President Roosevelt obtained a report from Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, in which he recommended that Mr. Perkins' wishes be complied with. The Smith report was withheld from the batch forwarded to the senate from the department of justice. It was dated Sept. 3, 1907, about a month later than the letter in which President Roosevelt sent to his attorney general

IOWA SENATOR IS ELIMINATED

Taft Wins Over Cummins in Hawkeye State.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, April 25.—President Taft will go to Chicago with sixteen of the seventy-six delegates from Iowa Senator Albert B. Cummins will have ten. Whether the Iowan's name will be presented to the national convention at all, is a question. State leaders, who assert that the steam roller was used on the Cummins men, declared today the delegates would not be released from their pledge to the Iowan, and that they would be kept as a nucleus of a "dark horse" movement.

Taft supporters assert that Taft's victory eliminates Cummins entirely as a possibility in Chicago

Taft forces controlled the convention by four-to-one votes. The first test showed he had 761 delegates to Cumming' 720. Then short positive resolutions endorsing the Taft administration and pledging the delegates-at-large to him were passed

"It was an old-time caucus convention We were beaten by proxies that fell into the hands of Taft men," was Cummins' comment as he left for Washington.

MINERS WIN IN STRUGGLE

Threatened Strike of Men Is Practically Settled.

THE MINE MANAGERS TO ACCEPT TERMS

Agreement Will Be Put Up to Miners.

Under Agreement, Men Will Get Ten Per Cent. Increase, Abolishment of Sliding Scale—Men Claim Other Concessions Practically Mean Recognition of Union—Contract To Be Drawn Up.

New York, April 25.—The threatened strike of 140,000 anthracite coal miners, which has been pending for two months, has been practically settled with victory for the miners, it was announced today by representatives of the miners, who are in conference at the Hotel Victoria here.

The mine managers, it is said, have accepted a tentative agreement submitted to them and all that remains is to ratify this agreement by a vote of the mine workers throughout the country Its acceptance is practically certain, the union officials declared. The miners, under this proposed agreement, will be granted a ten per cent increase in wages, abolishment of the sliding scale and the right to have committees in each colliery to adjust any differences that may arise without first making direct appeal to the head of the union.

Means Recognition.

The miners claim that this last concession practically amounts to recognition of their union by the mine owners. A contract embodying all of these points is now being drawn up.

It will be effective for four years from the date of its signing by representatives of the miners and managers.

May 2 next, members of the general committee of miners and the managers will meet in this city and receive the reports of the voting of the miners. If the agreement is accepted, the contract will be drawn and signed by representatives of both sides

LINER IGNORES TITANIC'S CALL

The Californian Could Have Saved Many.

TRUTH IS TOLD BY AN ENGINEMAN

Makes Charge Against Captain of Californian.

Rather Than Risk of Sinking His Ship, the Captain Ignores Distress Signals of Titanic, Believing Ship Is a Tramp Steamer. Later Learns Truth, but Too Late To Aid Sinking Vessel.

New York, April 25.—Ernest Gill, a donkey engineman on the Leyland liner, Californian, who stopped off in New York on his way from Boston to Washington to testify before the senate committee investigating the Titanic horror, declared today that the White Star liner's signals of distress were seen on the Leyland liner, which was but a few miles away, but were ignored by Captain Stanley Lord. Gill said he would swear to the truth of this charge upon his arrival in Washington

The engineman further alleged that Captain Lord was informed before 12.30 and 12.45 Monday morning, April 15, that the Titanic was sinking.

Gill's story, in part, is as follows:

"Captain Lord was on his cabin at the time the signal rockets were seen He at once gave orders to heave to and stand by the White Star ship. The Californian encountered a dangerous field of ice and Captain Lord, rather than run the risk of sinking his ship, turned about to avoid the ice. At the time, I learned from officers the next day, the Titanic was sinking, in part, is as follows: Captain Lord was on his cabin at the time the signal rockets were seen He at once gave orders to heave to and stand by the White Star ship. The Californian encountered a dangerous field of ice and Captain Lord, rather than run the risk of sinking his ship, turned about to avoid the ice. At the time, I learned from officers the next day, the Titanic was sinking. The second was the Titanic He thought the sinking ship was a tramp freighter."

News Rockets Fired.

Gill further said he is prepared to swear that he saw two rockets fired from the starboard bow of the Titanic. The first, he said, he thought was a shooting star. The second he saw clearly. Others on the Californian saw the signals, also, Gill charges. Gill made affidavit, swearing to the truth of his narrative.

The wireless operator on the Californian had already gone to bed, Gill said. First Officer Stewart rushed to the wireless man's bunk after the rockets had been fired and tearing him from the bunk exclaimed:

"For God's sake get to your key Some ship has been sending up rockets and we have done nothing."

At this time, Gill says, the engines had been stopped and the Californian was lying to.

Rather Than Risk Sinking.

Gill says that the captain ignored the distress signals of the Titanic, believing that the ship was a tramp steamer. Later he learned the truth, but too late to aid the sinking vessel.

UNARMED CITIZEN KILLED BY BANDIT

Is Getting Better of Robber When Later Uses Gun.

Chicago, April 25.—John Angel, living in a fashionable North Side district, was shot and killed early today by one of the bold bandits who robbed him of $30 when he had fought a desperate battle near his home. Angel was unarmed, but refused to submit when ordered to throw up his hands. He was winning the battle when one of the bandits, floored with a blow to the point of the chin, drew a revolver as he lay on the sidewalk and shot Angel through the abdomen. The robbers escaped.

"Stead" The Mackay-Bennett dispatch follows.

Many Bodies Seen.

"Bodies are numerous in latitude 47.45 north, longitude 48.37 west, extending many miles east and west. Mail ships should give this a wide berth. Medical opinion is that death has been instantaneous in all cases owing to the pressure when bodies drawn down in vortex. Drifting in dense fog since noon yesterday. Total picked up, 205.

"We brought away all of the embalming fluid to be had in Halifax, but only enough for seventy. With a week's fine weather I think we will pretty well clean up the relics of the disaster.

"It is my opinion that the majority of bodies will never come to the surface.

"Mackay-Bennett."

The ship adds the following message

A PRAYER UTTERED IN NOTE OF DEPARTURE

"To Please God We Shall Soon See You Again"—Sister Who Pens Lines to Mrs. Fred Baillis Is Aboard the Titanic—Not Mentioned in the List of Those Saved.

"To please God we shall soon see you again, so goodbye."

That is one of the tragedy-penned sentences from a hastily-written message to Mr. and Mrs Fred Baillis, of No. 312 West Columbia street, mailed only a few days before Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thomas Davison, of Chippenham, Wiltshire borough, England, are believed to have set sail for the United States on the ill-fated Titanic.

The note, which was written on a piece of heavy paper, evidently torn hurriedly from a large sheet, was addressed to Mrs Fred Baillis, a sister of Mrs. Davison, and was mailed at Chippenham, April 4. It was as follows:

"Dear Alice and Fred: Just another line to say we are sailing on the 10th of April on the Titanic from Southampton, so by the time you get this letter we shall be well on our way. We shall get to New York about the 17th.

"We have just finished packing the boxes. To please God we shall soon see you again, so goodbye.

"Your loving brother and sister,

"Harry and Mary."

The letter that was intended to bring joy to the hearts of Mr and Mrs. Baillis brought gloom instead, for they had been hoping against hope that their English relatives had not taken voyage on the gigantic steamer. They had known that they contemplated visiting America, but were not sure on what boat they had embarked until the brief letter was delivered to them in Wednesday morning's mail.

Fearing that her sister and brother-in-law had taken passage on the Titanic, Mrs. Baillis had read every line in the newspapers for some information of them. She communicated with the Star for further news of the great horror of the deep, and was heartbroken over the fact that their names were not among those listed as saved.

TRAINS GUNS ON ROOSEVELT

President Taft Scores Tactics of Colonel.

ROOSEVELT DOESN'T GIVE SQUARE DEAL

Held Up to People in All His Vanity.

President Taft Declares Theodore Roosevelt Is an Over-Ambitious Man Who Does Not Know What Square Deal Means—Colonel Is Charged with Garbling Speeches of Chief Executive.

Springfield, Mass., April 25.—President Taft made the first speech of his whirlwind tour of Massachusetts in an effort to capture the presidential primary vote Tuesday before a crowd of 10,000 people in this city at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He was received with a presidential salute of twenty-one guns. He was driven to Court square in an automobile under escort of a local committee, where from a stand erected in front of the First Congregational church he spoke to an immense crowd.

Mr. Taft, in his speech, said that Colonel Roosevelt is an "over-ambitious man, that he does not know what a square deal means, and he is deceiving the people and getting away with it. I came to Massachusetts this time," said the president, "most reluctantly. Generally, I am delighted to visit the grand old state where most of my ancestors are buried. This time I come from a sense of highest duty.

maxim of the sporting world. One of these is the 'square deal for all.' I ask you what you think of the 'square deal' as he gives it to me. He garbled my Toledo speech and twisted it so as to make me believe in a government of the few. I never said anything of the kind. That's his idea of a 'square deal.' I ask you if Abraham Lincoln, whom Theodore Roosevelt likens himself to, would do anything like that?"

Before President Taft could say more, the 15,000 people yelled: "No, no, no." The president was forced to smile at the demonstration.

PRESENTS $50,000 DRAFT TO BANK

Man Who Escapes from Sanitarium Creates Excitement.

Chicago, April 25.—When a big downtown department store delivered a bundle of clothing and rendered a bill for $600 to Mr. George S. Moore, of New York, it caused surprise at the LaSalle hotel today. Mr. Moore appeared at the First National bank, presented a draft for $50,000 and asked that it be cashed. He was told to call again. Police were notified and discovered that George S. Moore had just escaped from a sanitarium. He is the son of wealthy New Yorkers; is a civil engineer and was put in the sanitarium for treatment as a result of a nervous breakdown from overstudy.

DREAMS HE IS ON ILL-FATED TITANIC

Illinois Man Leaps from Window, but Daughter Answers Call.

Kankakee, Ill., April 25.—Dreaming he was aboard the Titanic, C. P. Coalhurst early today dived from his open window to the ground, two stories below. His daughter heard his "C. Q. D." and came to the rescue. Coalhurst was only slightly bruised. Since the ship disaster, he has talked of little else, saying the men who perished should have jumped overboard and attempted to swim.

HARVESTER SUIT BOBS UP AGAIN

Papers Show Roosevelt Orders Action Delayed.

FIRST CONFERS WITH PERKINS

Then He Let Whole Matter Drop Entirely.

Documents Furnished Senate Showing How Roosevelt Delays and Eventually Ceases Action Against Harvester Trust Will Be Used by President Taft as Ammunition in Opening Battle Tonight.

Washington, April 25.—The senate has received a number of documents tending to show that Theodore Roosevelt, when president, directed that the suit for the dissolution of the harvester trust, which was then in course of preparation, be held up indefinitely.

"Please do not file the suit until I hear from you," wrote the president to Charles J. Bonaperte, his attorney general, after President Roosevelt had a conversation with George W. Perkins, one of the directors of the International Harvester company and a large stockholder in it.

Apparently President Roosevelt never did hear favorably from his attorney general, for the suit failed to materialize in the Roosevelt administration.

The excuse given by President Roosevelt for holding up the proposed suit was that Herbert Knox Smith, his commissioner of corporations, might finish an investigation which he was making into the affairs of the harvester trust. Apparently this investigation never was concluded

SENATOR WILLIAM ALDEN SMITH, WHO IS CONDUCTING PROBE OF TITANIC HORROR

Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, who is conducting the senatorial investigation into the Titanic disaster, in Washington. The photograph was taken as Senator Smith was on his way to a hearing of the committee with a batch of papers bearing on questions which of the Californian were stopped because of the ice. Later, the wireless operator caught a message of the Allan liner, Virginian stating that the Titanic had sunk. As soon as Captain Lord discovered that it was the Titanic he started up his engines, Gill declared, and despite the floe, started off at full speed for the spot where the great liner had sunk The Californian cruised about for a time, but saw neither survivors nor bodies.

Captain Denies Reports.

St John, N B April 25.—Denying reports received by the United States senate committee in Washington that his ship, the Mt Temple, of the Canadian Pacific line, had hovered five miles off the Titanic while that liner sank, Captain Moore, of the Mt. Temple, today, declared that he had raced through the ice-strewn seas off the Newfoundland Grand Banks all night trying to find the Titanic or surviving members of her passengers and crew. Taking direct issue with Captain Moore, Dr. F. C. Quitzman, of Toronto, a passenger on the Mt. Temple, reiterated today that he had actually witnessed the sinking of the Titanic from the deck of the Canadian Pacific liner. Dr Quitzman has consented to go to Washington and testify before the senate committee.

"The man that says that, lied deliberately, when he says that I refused to go to the aid of the Titanic," said Captain Moore. "To have such reports circulated about a seaman is terrible. That passenger who says he saw the sinking of the Titanic from my ship is either looking for notoriety or trying to 'get even' for something.

"He would have been below at the time and would not have known what course I was steering.

Searches for Bodies.

"About 9:30 Sunday night, April 14, the Carpathia passed us and it was 12:20 when I first picked up a 'C. Q. D.' from the Titanic. That message gave her position as longitude 50.21 west. I was then fifty miles away from her westbound. I immediately altered my course and steamed back toward the position given me by the ill-fated ship. I

Vessels Are Advised to Steer Clear of Place Where Dead Bodies Are Floating About—Hearse of Atlantic Sends Word Regarding Identification of Many Person's More—The List.

New York, April 25.—In a wireless report made today by the "funeral ship," Mackay-Bennett, to the marine department of the White Star line, the cable ship sends forty names as those of persons whose bodies have been rescued from the sea near the scene of the Titanic disaster. The ship reports many bodies scattered for miles both east and west of the Titanic's position, centering at 17.15 north and longitude 48.37 west.

Among the names is that of "W. Butt" and the word "unquote" which follows it is taken to mean a misreading of the A. Q. M. that was a part of the official title of Major A. W. Butt, A. Q. M. U. S. A. The word "unquote" is used in cable dispatches instead of the quotation sign at the end of a quoted sentence.

A second name is that W. Year, which may be that of W. T. Stead, the noted English Journalist. The name of Mr. Stead is sugested by telegraphers, who point out the similarity in the dots and dashes that make up the words "Year" and

STORM SWEEPS STATE SUNDAY

Towns and Villages Suffer as a Result.

WINDOWS SMASHED BY FALLING HAIL

In Places Trees Are Stripped of Bark.

Telegraph and Telephone Lines Are Put Out of Commission—Fruit Believed Damaged in Number of Counties—Two Women Injured in Storm—Many Towns Are Thrown into Darkness.

Cleveland, April 15.—The first serious storm of the season swept over a portion of Ohio yesterday afternoon and evening crippling telegraph and telephone service, putting a part of Cleveland and many other cities and villages in darkness and destroying trees, fences and small buildings in its path.

While the severe electrical storm and the heavy rain was responsible for most of the damage in Cleveland, other parts of the state were visited with severe hailstorms and in some places by high winds that approached tornadoes in their violence.

In at least two instances people were injured by flying glass when big hailstones, driven before a high wind, crashed through windows of houses and trains and smashed the glass in many hothouses and conservatories. Serious damage was done to fruit trees and shrubs in many parts of the state, while hundreds of chickens and other barnyard fowl are reported to have been killed, by hail, wind and rain.

Caught in Downpour.

Parks and boulevards in the city were thronged with people yesterday afternoon and evening, and not the least of the damage which was done by the storm was to the spring finery worn. Hundreds of others on their way to and from the churches were caught in the heavy downpour of rain and spring hats and garments ruined by the drenching.

From further down in the state comes the reports of the most serious damage. Here the sudden storm that came up was accompanied by a quick fall in temperature and the rain turned to hail, which, driven by a high wind, stripped fruit trees of small branches, killed barnyard fowls and riddled glass hothouses and windows.

Reports from Lima, Ohi tell of a tornado that swept the whole of Allen county. Many smal' buildings were blown over, trees were blown down and young fruit trees were stripped. The storm is reported to have covered about a mile in width of territory and to have swept in a southerly direction. A number of minor accidents were reported from this territory, but nothing of a serious nature aside from the damage to the fruit trees and houses.

Woman Is Injured.

In Fostoria, Wood county, one woman was seriously injured by flying glass when the hail struck that place. Mrs. Homer Cochard, a resident of Fostoria, was cut about the hands and arms when the hail crashed through a window near which she was standing.

The hailstorm was so serious in this locality that many roofs were ruined, shingles being broken and tin punctured by the falling chunks of ice. Merchants as well as home owners were forced to rush out into the storm to put up blinds and other protections against the storm.

An Erie passenger train, caught in the storm between Kenton and Marion, Ohio, was greatly damaged by having all of the windows on one side smashed by the hail. Edward Scheimer, of Chicago, a passenger on the train, was so seriously injured by the flying glass that he had to be taken from the train at Marion and rushed to a hospital for surgical attention. He was en route to New York.

Trees Are Stripped.

Hancock county in the western part of the state was also a sufferer from the hail and wind. In Liberty township, near Findlay, the storm was so severe that the bark was stripped from many of the large trees and smaller trees were uprooted or broken off. Many telegraph and telephone wires were broken down and train service throughout the county was seriously impeded.

The storm in that locality lasted only ten minutes, but was unusually severe. During that time the temperature fell fifteen degrees and hail stones picked up after the storm weighed up three to the pound. Many chickens and ducks were killed by the hail and wind.

While Cleveland escaped the hail and terrific winds that visited other parts of the state, the electrical storm and heavy rain crippled the lighting, telephone and telegraph service in the city to a serious degree and but for the fact that the storm came on Sunday when business was light, the effect would have been more seriously felt.

Lightning struck the wires of the Municipal Illuminating company's plant in Collinwood and the heavy charge of electricity resulting, burned out one of the dynamos. In consequence almost all of Collinwood was in darkness between 7 p. m. and 9 p. m. Churches where electricity is depended upon for light, were in many cases unable to hold the evening services.

Most of the homes were in darkness and the streets were like the inside of a tunnel.

Another bolt of lightning got mixed up with the lighting wires of the southwest portion of the city and the Brookside zoo was plunged in darkness that lasted over two hours. In the buildings where most of the animals are kept, a bedlam of sound broke out as the animals, frightened by the sharp flashes of lightning and peals of thunder, howled, roared, squeeled and barked their fear.

In Lakewood lightning blew out several fuses in the substation of the illuminating company on Plover avenue and the street lights along Detroit avenue and Warren road were put in darkness as well as the houses served with power from the same wires. The damage was quickly remedied, however, and after a short period of darkness the lights were again turned on.

Phone Lines Out.

Several telephone wires were also put out of business in Lakewood and others parts of the county. In fact, during the time of the storm telephone service in all parts of Cleveland was bad. Both the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph companies reported lines down. Most of the trouble, they said, was south and west of Cleveland where the high winds and hail had swept.

The worst of the storm struck Cleveland shortly after 6 o'clock last night after the weather had apparently cleared up and people were venturing from their homes to enjoy the spring breezes. Rain had fallen early in the morning in heavy showers that continued at frequent intervals up to noon. The weather remained warm, however, and when the sun came out in the afternoon the parks and boulevards were immediately thronged with pedestrians and automobiles.

The weatherman reported that between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. yesterday .17 inches of rain fell. The maximum temperature was seventy-six, while the minimum was forty-seven. A brisk wind blew from the southeast at a thirty-six mile clip. The forecast for today and tomorrow is cooler and showers with light southeasterly winds.

CLEMENT GROVE DIES AT HOME IN COLUMBUS

Is a Former Well-Known Resident of Marion.

Clement Grove, fifty years old, a former resident of Marion and a member of Kosciuske Lodge, No. 58, Mizpah Encampment, No. 50, and Canton Marion, No 66, Patriarchs Militant, I. O. O. F., died at his home No. 32 Clarendon avenue, Columbus, Saturday morning, from the effects of having a tooth drawn two months ago. In extracting the tooth a portion of the jawbone was broken and this caused inflammation of the gum, which was ulcerated. The trouble would not yield to treatment and last Friday septic pneumonia set in, causing death within twenty-four hours.

Mr. Grove was formerly employed by the old Implement Manufacturing company on Greenwood street, and lived on Forest street. He moved to Columbus with his family about seven or eight years ago. He was employed in Columbus by the Syner Lumber company on the East Side.

Mr. Grove is survived by a widow two sons, Edward Grove, of the Columbus fire department, and Elbert L. Grove, of Detroit; his father Amos Grove, of Lynchburg, and one brother, Oscar Grove, of Hillsboro.

A number of Odd Fellows from this city attended the funeral services, which were held at the late residence at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Interment was made in Green Lawn cemetery.

THE KING'S HERALD NEW ORGANIZATION

Juvenile Branch of Epworth Church Society.

The King's Herald, a juvenile branch of the Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, under the supervision of the local auxiliary of the Epworth M. E. church, was organized at the church, Sunday afternoon. About fifty children assembled at 2:30 o'clock and most of the time was devoted to organizing the society, which will be in charge of Mrs. Benjamin Levens and Mrs. C. R. Havighurst. The following officers were elected:

Harold Havighurst, president, Earl Vickers, first vice president, Lincolnia Cheney, second vice president, Gladys Bauer, secretary, Helen Havighurst, corresponding secretary, and Frances Kilbury, treasurer.

Next Sunday afternoon, a regular program will be rendered and the meeting will be held at the same place.

MANY FAMILIES ARE DRIVEN TO STREETS

Fire Causes Loss of $150,000 at Augusta, Maine.

Augusta, Me., April 15.—A fire which broke out in the basement of the old city hall at No. 145 Water street early today, drove many families into the streets and did $150,000 damage before the firemen got it under control. The buildings destroyed covered about one acre of ground along the river and No. 131-161 Water street. Twenty-five persons were asleep in the upper stories of a hotel. They escaped just before the flames seized the whole building.

Taffetas rule pre-eminent.

AN IMPORTANT REMINDER PERTINENT TO THIS CAMPAIGN.

Editor of Star—Is it not time for the farmers, mechanics and men generally who labor, to consider the political situation today as it really is, in relation to not only their personal interests, but also the general public welfare?

This nation can not maintain its present scale of wage and reward to all those who produce and labor, under free trade conditions. And yet it is plainly evident that behind all the clamor, noise and pretense of today's batch of demagogs, there is marshalled, as never before, in strong, serried lines, the hosts of free trade, under their banner, that once waving in triumph over our homes, means smokeless factories, soup-kitchens for solace, and desolation to the commercial activities of our great country. As Candidate Harding well said, in his prophetic speech at Cleveland in 1910, "We well know, by long experience, the result of a Democratic triumph, with free trade accompaniment."

And how wonderfully he is confirmed, and how, from out his own mouth, has come the evidence is readily shown.

The Star of October 19, 1894—just think of it, eighteen years since the Wilson bill gave sheep husbandry its deathblow—contains the following item, startling in its foreboding of evil that is to come. Here it is.

"A sample of the sheep market under free wool was to be observed at Frank Coon's big stock sale on Thursday; good sheep sold at from twenty-six cents to $1.40 per head."

And the splendid, growing beet-sugar industry is about to enter the same boat with free wool. Today the sheep industry is on the wane. Our high tide of prosperity is checked. And yet William H. Taft, alone, is standing out manfully, demanding reasonable and equitable tariff schedules, that shall care for American labor, the American farm, the American factory, and the American home. We know where he stands, and the call now comes, strong and clear, "American manhood, to your colors, or you will be lost."

There is nothing in the products of the soil, the loom, the mill or the forge that is not menaced by the same crew of ill-omen that manned the ship that sailing, then as now, under false colors, gave us the destructive tariff laws framed in the Wilson bill. Lest we forget, let us, ere it be too late, recall.

Yours,

A Farmer with a Memory.

TRUSTS' HEADS ARE DENOUNCED

In Scathing Terms by Senator Pomerene.

SAYS OFFICIALS VIOLATE LAWS

Declares They Do So Most Deliberately.

It Ought Not To Be Said of Any Just Government, Says the Ohio Senator, That the Rich Are Favored Before the Law, While the Poor Are Unprotected—Defends His Resolution in Senate.

Washington, April 15.—Officials of the dissolved Standard Oil and American Tobacco companies were denounced in scathing terms on the floor of the senate today by Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, who spoke in behalf of a resolution introduced by himself demanding that congress go on record as demanding the criminal prosecution of those officials.

"It ought not be said of any just government," said the senator, "that the rich are favored before the law, while the poor are unprotected.

"Examination of the opinions of the supreme court in these cases will convince any fair-minded man that the court is of the opinion that those two companies knowingly, deliberately, and defiantly violated the law.

"What excuse can be given for the failure to prosecute officials of those two corporations, who have violated the law of the land? It was not a case of the uncertainty of the law, but of the open defiance of it.

Manipulate Prices.

"They drove the prices of raw materials down to suit their own convenience and increased the price to the consumer at will. Out of a pooling agreement of Kentucky tobacco growers, came the conviction of eight or ten growers, who were fined in the aggregate $3,500. In the meantime, the men who organized the American Tobacco trust built up an enormous property worth $300,000,000 in stocks, bonds and physical assets.

"I don't see why the tobacco growers, who were forced to combine for self-protection against the tobacco trust, should be punished while the officials of that trust go free. The price movements of stocks since the dissolution of these two trusts show what has been done. It shows how the rich stock jobbers and trust magnates have manipulated to the advantage of their pocketbooks."

GIGANTIC LOSS IS CAUSED BY STRIKE

In Two Weeks Loss Is Estimated at $17,070,000.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 15.—The suspension of work at the anthracite coal mines has now lasted two weeks and it was estimated today that the losses of all directly affected by the idleness of the miners amounted to some $17,000,000, divided as follows:

Loss in wages to mine workers, $4,250,000; loss to companies in profits $2,700,000; loss to sellers of mining supplies, etc., $1,250,000; loss to railroads in freight charges, $4,750,000; loss in wages of coal trainmen, $120,000; loss to retail merchants etc., $4,000,000. Total, $17,070,000.

Merchants throughout the anthracite fields and the industrial life in general now feel severely the effects of the suspension.

HARMON IS TOOL OF WALL STREET

Declares Bryan, on Invading Ohio Today.

URGES VOTERS TO SUPPORT WILSON

He Opens His Fight Against the Governor.

Nebraskan Will Make a Two-Day Tour of State, Urging Democratic Voters To Oppose Candidacy of the Ohio Executive in His Race for Presidential Nomination—Says Issue Is Same as in 1896.

Ravenna, O., April 15.—William J. Bryan, aboard a special train, opened a two days' speech-making tour of Ohio this morning by urging the Democratic voters to oppose the candidacy of Governor Harmon in the presidential preference primaries, May 21. Bryan scored the Ohio governor as "the tool of Wall street," and urged the voters to rally to the support of Governor Woodrow Wilson, who will be Harmon's only opponent in the primaries.

The three-times presidential candidate held the close attention of a large crowd.

"The issue this year is exactly the same as it was in 1896—the money kings of Wall street versus the people," said Bryan. "The fight made by the Democratic party in '96 was the first great protest made against the control of the government by the predatory interests. And the Wall street Democrats joined the Republican party and defeated the Democratic ticket.

Harmon One of Them.

"Governor Harmon was one of these men who helped to send the Democratic party down to defeat.

"I affirm that Governor Harmon has not changed in sympathies since that time. I affirm that his sympathies today are with Wall street. In this state, your primary choice is limited to Harmon and Wilson, and I urge you to vote for Wilson delegates. If the issue were between Harmon and another progressive, I would urge you to vote for the progressive, whoever that progressive might be. I am for any progressive against any reactionary—for the people and against Wall street."

Mr. Bryan today will visit Akron, Wooster, Londonville, Mansfield, Mt. Gilead, Delaware and Columbus.

PROSPECT YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED

Miss Cora Johnston and Mr. Walter Roberts.

Prospect, O., April 15.—[Special.]—Miss Cora Johnston and Mr. Walter Roberts were united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George Johnston of Park avenue, Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present and witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. C. M. Chapin pastor of the Presbyterian church here. The bride is well known in and about Prospect as is also the groom, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roberts, residing south of here.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left on a short automobile trip and returning in a few days they will make their home for a time with the bride's mother.

TWO KILLED AT CHURCH SERVICE

Many Injured When Unfinished Floor Gives Away.

PEOPLE PILE UP IN THE BASEMENT

Accident Occurs in a New Jersey Town.

Several Hundred Worshipers, Gathered To Witness Blessing of Cornerstone of New Edifice, Are Buried Beneath Falling Timbers When Braces Break, Throwing People into Basement.

Harrington Park, N. J., April 15.—By the caving in of the floor of an unfinished Roman Catholic church two women were killed and about fifty persons were severely or dangerously injured. Temporary wooden supports under the floor could not withstand the weight of 300 eager men and women who had rushed into the edifice, snapped, and the planking bowed down to the cellar, 10 feet below, in the form of a hopper. Into this space the men, women and children were thrown, and upon them came heavy piles of lumber which had been left in the room. It was this lumber that did most of the damage, although suffocation beneath the struggling mass accounts for two deaths.

The dead, Mrs. Fritz Elkart, 25, of Hillside, N. J.; Mrs. Nicholas Ottignon, 43, of Westwood, N. J.

Ceremony Drew Large Crowd.

The ceremony of laying and blessing the cornerstone of the little "Church of Our Lady of the Victory" at Harrington Park drew a crowd of about 400 devout churchmen and churchwomen from the surrounding suburbs. The church is really well advanced toward completion, but the cornerstone had not been blessed. Naugle and Wisener, the contractors, have the stone walls of the basement, the shingled sides and the high Gothic shingle roof in place, the belfry installed and the high front steps up.

Inside the church the first layer of flooring was put down a week ago, but this was not supported by the iron supports which are to go in there. The carpenters had not thought fit to put anything in there yet. Later they did put beneath it at irregular intervals about 10 supports made by nailing three joists, 2 inches by 6 inches, together. These rested on concrete blocks in the cellar.

It will have to be determined by the Bergen county authorities who is to blame for permitting 300 people to rush in on such a flimsy superstructure.

EAT BODIES OF DROWNED CATTLE

Thousand Persons Are Camped on Mississippi Levee.

Vicksburg, Miss., April 15.—On the levee, the only ground in this section higher than the flood waters of the Mississippi, 1,000 persons rescued from the sweep waters, are camped today. For miles in either direction, the flood is stretched out, the homes of the people are under water, towns deserted and the people destitute. The only obtainable food in many sections was the bodies of cattle drowned in the flood.

Along the great dikes, fires made of driftwood were built up and the carcasses roasted. Tugs and steamboats are gathering up the refugees and bringing them to Vicksburg to be cared for. The town of Tallulah, north of here, is under water and the inhabitants have fled.

VAGRANT VERSE.

The King of the Bay.

Keep me talking late and early, late and early, Dixon dear;
For I talk not from conviction but to catch the public's ear.
I've talked the maddest, wildest lot they've heard for many a day,
For I'm to be "King of the Bay" old man "King Ted from Oyster Bay."

I don't care what I say old man. What's said I can deny,
Because what's truth today for me tomorrow is a lie.
If I can only keep them mad till next election day,
I'll be "King of the Bay" my boy, "King Ted from Oyster Bay."

I hardly sleep at night old man, but lie awake and think
What I have done and still can do to put things on the blink.
But that's the way to win my boy—friends party—all betray—
Will make me "King of the Bay" my man, "King Ted from Oyster Bay."

Washington was a great old man but not so great as I.
Two terms were all he cared for man but I want till I die.
And when I croak I'll make a will and in it I will say
Who's to succeed the dead Bay King "King Ted from Oyster Bay."

It makes me laugh with glee old chap, to stir up all this fuss.
For if I can't be boss for life I'll make an awful muss.
I'll bust the party fore and aft if on election day
They fail to crown me king for life, "King Ted from Oyster Bay."

You must always keep me talking, always talking, Dixon dear.
Shouting saying, yelling braying things the soreheads want to hear.
That will make the suckers gurgle, that's the thing I want to say.
They're the boys who want to crown me, crown me "King from Oyster Bay."

ROOSEVELT AN EASY WINNER

Is Victor in the Pennsylvania Primaries.

GETS MAJORITY OF DELEGATES

Roosevelt Followers Highly Pleased.

Total Vote May Run 160,000 Ahead of Taft's—Result of Primaries Considered Repudiation of Senator Penrose, Who, Before Result Is Announced, Seeks Seclusion on Bosom of the Atlantic.

Philadelphia, April 15.—Incomplete returns from every district in Saturday's primary election give Colonel Roosevelt 65 of the state's 76 delegates to the Chicago national convention. The Roosevelt supporters are claiming 67, and later returns may carry the figures to that total. Colonel Roosevelt won 52 of the 64 district national delegates and his followers elected enough delegates to the state convention to give them control of that body. The state convention will name 12 delegates-at-large.

Those 12 delegates already are counted for Roosevelt, but the state convention will have another and more potent effect on Pennsylvania. It marks the passing of United States Senator Boies Penrose as a member of the national committee, and many persons are predicting that it also marks the beginning of his exit from politics.

Will Control Convention.

The Roosevelt followers will absolutely dominate the state convention. They will nominate an auditor general and a state treasurer, and for the first time in many years will have absolute control of the election machinery of the state.

In this same connection the 25 men nominated as candidates for the state senate, when elected, will hold over until the time comes for the selection of a successor of Senator Penrose. From late returns 18 of these men are opposed to Senator Penrose and the ideas for which he stands.

Every man elected as a Roosevelt delegate went into the fight not only pledged, but instructed for Roosevelt. Their names appeared on the ballots and after their names appeared the binding clause "for Roosevelt." On the other hand, the Taft delegates and those credited to Taft entered the battle without pledge and were elected "uninstructed."

The story of the state battle would only be a story of one landslide after another. In Philadelphia, Roosevelt carried 17 out of the 47 wards. The Taft vote here was 62,893 and the Roosevelt vote was 50,040. Outside of that one district in Lancaster where the Taft delegates were elected, and in Philadelphia, the vote of Roosevelt was so great that it simply swamped the Taft vote. The complete vote of the state probably will show that the Roosevelt delegates polled 160,000 votes more than the Taft delegates.

Rebuke to Penrose.

The Roosevelt victory in Pennsylvania is not looked upon as entirely a personal triumph for the former president, but is looked upon here as a rebuke to Senator Penrose and machine politics.

There is but one section of the entire state where it is thought that the vote was personal for Roosevelt. The coal miners voted for him to the man, and with a suspension of operations at present they turned out heavily. In the other country districts the farmers were well organized as against machine rule. In Philadelphia the people simply did the same thing they did one year ago—overthrew the machine until they elected a reform mayor.

Senator Penrose is saying nothing. He went to Atlantic City and within two hours after reaching there had boarded his yacht and she pointed her nose seaward. He did not depart, however, until he got the late editions of the Philadelphia newspapers and read of the defeat of his machine. Many "S. O. S." messages were sent to the yacht in an effort to get some expression from the senator, but to all of them he was silent.

Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, who had no organized opposition, will have 74 of the 76 delegates from Pennsylvania in the Democratic national convention. In the Eleventh congressional district the two Democratic national delegates elected are favorable to Governor Judson Harmon, but they are not pledged.

McKinley Explains.

Washington, April 15. — Director William B. McKinley of the Taft campaign issued a vitriolic statement in which he says:

"The outcome of the Pennsylvania primary is plainly indicative of the fact that national issues are playing only a small part in some states in the campaign for the Republican nomination for president. Instead of constructive statesmanship being put forth in an effort to solve the problems before the country and as bid for votes on the ground of merit, a nation-wide campaign of willful and malicious misrepresentation, vilification and assault on the president of the United States has been substituted. Such a campaign, amounting in fact to a conspiracy made not only to humiliate the president personally, but to commit the Republican party to rank Socialism, only been countenanced but ed by Former President Roosevelt.

"The fact that this can now claiming to wear the Abraham Lincoln is evid the acme of demagogism country has been reached."

He concludes by saying president is in this fight to will be the nominee of the Republican convention at Chicago.

Nothing pleases a woman than to have a man coax something she really wants.

A woman doesn't consider wearing of diamonds vulgar she hasn't any.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Whereas, the state central committee of the Republican party of Ohio meeting regularly called on the 15th of March, 1912, by a resolution by a majority vote thereof, a to this committee, duly authorized empowered this committee to fix the selection of delegates and from this county to the Republican convention to be held on the 11th days of June, 1912, at Columbus, Ohio, either by direct vote or convention as this committee may determine, and fix in its apportionment number of delegates and alternates said state convention to which county is entitled, as being one delegates and seven alternates; and

Whereas, It is the sense of this committee and it is hereby determined the delegates and alternates to the Republican state convention that they and alternates to the Republican convention shall be elected by direct vote at the primary election to be held on Tuesday, May 21, 1912, according to the provisions of the primary election laws and,

Whereas It is further the sense of this committee, and it is hereby determined that the county central committee of the Republican party of this county shall be composed of one member from each voting precinct in said county to be elected at the primary election, by direct vote. Therefore be it resolved:

First—That at the primary election to be held on Tuesday, May 21, 1912, there be elected a county central committee consisting of one member from each voting precinct of this county, which members to be elected by the voters at said primary election.

Second—That there be nominated by direct vote at said primary election candidates for the following offices:

Representative.
Clerk.
Sheriff.
Auditor.
Three Commissioners.
Probate Judge.
Treasurer.

SCORES PLUNGE INTO WILD SEA

When the Titanic Is Sent to the Bottom.

"SAVE, OH, SAVE," FLASHES WIRELESS

As Lifeboats Are Sucked into Arms of Deep.

Iceberg Rips Open Hull of Giant Leviathan and Hundreds of Passengers Are Sent to a Watery Grave 'Mid Cries of Panic-Stricken Men, Women and Children—Details Are Most Pitiful.

New York, April 16.—Official announcement was made by the White Star line, this afternoon, that 868 survivors of the Titanic had been picked up from boats by the Cunard steamship, Carpathia. This would make the missing number 1,342.

White Star officials said they had received positive news by the wireless from the Olympic, which had received the aerogram from the Carpathia.

Total Loss of Life.

Montreal, April 16.—The total loss of life when the giant liner, Titanic, went to the bottom of the ocean yesterday was probably, 1,410. All hope that the Virginian, of the Allan line, had rescued any of the passengers and was headed for Halifax, was ended today when the captain sent the following message to his home office here:

"Virginian reached Titanic too late. No survivors on board. Proceeding Liverpool. Captain Gambell."

There were 2,210 souls on board the Titanic, including passengers and crew. The Cunard liner, Carpathia, announced by wireless that she had picked up 800 survivors. This left 1,410 unaccounted for. The message from Captain Gambell dashed the hopes of those who believed the Virginian had picked up survivors from the Titanic.

As the Virginian had been only 170 miles away from the scene of the disaster Sunday night, it was figured that she would be among the first succoring ships to reach the spot.

News of the receipt of the Virginian's wireless was a blow to the White Star officers in New York. Maritime experts expressed belief that the Titanic had broken her back by plowing over a submerged berg. They pointed out that the strain probably caused the watertight bulkhead doors to spring a leak.

Bringing Survivors Here.

New York, April 16.—Among the treacherous icebergs and amid a field of ice the Cunard liner, Carpathia, is speeding toward New York today carrying more than 800 passengers of the White Star steamship, Titanic, which went down off the Grand Banks, Newfoundland, yesterday, after ramming a mountainous berg. The Carpathia will arrive late Thursday or early Friday.

The wireless messages sent early today were received from Captain Rostrom of the Carpathia by the Cunard line. One sent at 7:55 a. m., when the ship was in latitude 41.45 north and longitude 50.25 west, read as follows:

"I am proceeding to New York unless otherwise ordered, with about 800. After having consulted with Mr. Ismay and considering the circumstances with so much ice about, concluded New York best. Large number icebergs and twenty-mile field of ice with bergs almost floes."

This message, presumably delayed in transmission, was later received from the same source:

"April 16—7:20 a. m.—Wireless from Captain Rostrom, steamship, Carpathia, via Cape Race: Titanic struck iceberg, sunk Monday 3 a. m., 41.45 north, 50.14 west. Carpathia picked up many passengers in boats. Will wire full particulars later. Proceeding New York."

DETAILED STORY OF THE OCEAN HORROR

Which Has Brought a Shock to the Civilized World.

New York, April 16.—The White Star liner, Titanic, the world's greatest steamship, has gone down some 200 miles off Cape Race, with over 500 of her 1,350 passengers and her full crew of 860 men on board.

The text of the message from the steamer, Olympic, reporting the sinking of the Titanic and the rescue of 675 survivors, which reached here late last night, also expressed the opinion that 1,400 lives were lost.

"Loss likely to total 1,400 souls," the dispatch said in its concluding sentence.

It is hoped and believed here that this is an error, unless the Titanic had more passengers on board than was reported.

The liner, Carpathia, the first vessel to come within sight of the Titanic, rescued all of the Titanic's lifeboats, in which were 670 persons, most of them women and children. Many women and children, however, have perished.

When the Carpathia reached the doomed vessel no sign of life was to be seen anywhere, the mountainous ocean swells giving mute evidence to the stupendous disaster.

Scores of terror-stricken passengers, among them women and children, are reported to have leaped into the sea soon after the vessel collided with the iceberg.

Other women and children struggled desperately with the men to reach the lifeboats.

Early Reports Discredited.

Early reports stated that all the passengers and the crew of the Titanic had been taken off by the Allen liners, Virginian and the Parisian, and then the Carpathia, but wireless messages received here last night discredit these reports in every detail.

That the sinking of the Titanic was witnessed from the bridge of the Carpathia, which was leading the Parisian and the Virginian to the rescue, was believed here last night.

That the vessel was seen through the glasses of the Carpathia's captain to be afloat is regarded as the source of these early encouraging reports.

Only by a miracle, it is pointed out, could any person who stood by the ship escape the great vessel's powerful suction as she sank to the bottom.

One wireless report stated that at least three or four lifeboats were pulled under the water by the suction when the Titanic sank from view.

A Notable List.

The Titanic carried the most notable list of passengers ever borne across the Atlantic by one vessel. Home-coming American tourists arranged their sailings weeks ago so as to ride the new wonder of the seas on her maiden voyage.

The dispatches state that the Titanic went down at 2:20 o'clock Monday morning. The delay in the transmission of the news is attributed to the fact that all dispatches have been subject to difficult relays.

The collision of the Titanic with an iceberg is now known to have been a head-on crash that occurred while the liner was proceeding at little less than her best speed.

The ship was a day ahead of her schedule, and it is considered probable that an attempt to make a record-breaking voyage was the hope of her crew when she entered the ice field.

Compartments Flooded.

The ship's forward plates were completely wrecked, a gaping wound opening below her water line and letting the water into her forward compartments.

In the meantime, the lifeboats were manned and into them were placed as many of the women and children as they could hold. These boats were put off while there was yet some hope of holding the Titanic afloat until her wireless messages could summon help.

Later and more comprehensive messages tell of great bravery on the part of the men passengers. There was a minimum of disorder.

The work of getting the lifeboats away, the work of allaying the fears of the great crowd of passengers as much as possible, the work of keeping the pumps in operation and the engines throbbing—these tasks and countless others were directed by Captain Smith, the venerable commander of the Olympic, who displayed almost superhuman power of mind and body as the world's most horrible sea disaster crowned his long and honorable service on the high seas.

Last Words from Ship.

The Titanic struck the iceberg at 10:25 Sunday night and foundered at 2:20 yesterday morning. When the Virginian arrived on the scene, her passengers and crew beheld only the small boats with their precious human cargoes and a dismal scene of wreckage.

"Sinking by the head, and women are being rushed into the lifeboats," were the last words that sputtered into the wireless room of the Virginian from the Titanic.

All through the night and until the wireless station was silenced over hundreds of miles of sea from the antennae of the giant liner a little band of operators flashed the mystic and magic "S. O. S."—Save, oh, Save—the worldwide cry of distress on the ocean.

The Collision.

Every wireless operator within range of the maimed vessel dropped her other messages to locate her, and meanwhile relayed the fatal three dots, three dashes and three dots to the world.

The collision occurred in latitude 41.46 north and longitude 50.14 west, 1,150 miles east of New York and 450 miles south of Cape Race, the most westerly point of Newfoundland.

Contrary to earlier despatches there was no storm when the vessel struck. The weather was clear and the sea calm.

Almost as soon as the Virginian picked up the distress signal it was recorded by the operator on the Olympic, the Titanic's sister ship, and next to her the largest vessel afloat. This was at midnight. At that hour the Olympic was 200 miles from New York enroute to Southampton.

Arrives Too Late.

The Olympic forged ahead under full steam, but last night's wireless despatches indicate that she reached the scene too late to be of any assistance.

The Baltic—famous for her rescue of the passengers of the steamer, Republic, and for her Jack Binns, who sat aloft and braved death to summon help—was the next ship to pick up the brief story of the Titanic's plight. She was on her way from New York to Liverpool, but turned about and put on full speed toward the Titanic's position.

The Parisian, according to her messages, reached the flotilla of rescuers shortly after the Baltic.

A wireless message from Captain Haddock confirmed the fears of the White Star line officials that all but the 670 women and children who escaped in the small boats from the $10,000,000 steamship had perished. A part of this message was withheld, but enough was divulged to the newspapers to make certain the appalling extent of the catastrophe.

Lost on Maiden Voyage.

Not until Captain Haddock flashed: "Horrible disaster—all but 670 lost," would the White Star officials believe that the mightiest ship ever launched had gone down on her maiden voyage.

The scene in the White Star line offices last night was pitiful. Brought to a realization of the stupendous wreck—the complete destruction of the fruit of their dreams—gray-haired men, many of them veteran seamen, wept.

Accepting the early estimates of the fatalities list as accurate, the disaster is the greatest in the marine history of the world. Nearest approaching it in magnitude were the disasters to the steamer, Atlantic, in 1873, when 574 lives were lost, and to La Bourgogne in 1898, with a fatality list of 571.

Should it prove that other liners, notably the Allen liners, Parisian and Virginian, known to have been in the vicinity of the Titanic, had picked up other of her passengers, the extent of the calamity would be greatly reduced. This hope still remains.

A Great Shock.

News of the sinking of the liner and the terrible loss of life in consequence came early last evening with all the greater shock because hope had been buoyed up all day by reports that the steamship, although badly damaged, was not in a sinking condition, and that all her passengers had been safely taken off.

The messages were mostly unofficial, however, and none came direct from the liner, so that a lurking fear remained of possible bad news to come.

Shortly after 7 o'clock last night there came flashing over the wires from Cape Race, within 400 miles of which the liner had struck the iceberg, word that at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning, three hours and fifty-five minutes after receiving her death blow, the Titanic had sunk. The news from the steamer, Carpathia, relayed by the White Star liner, Olympic, and revealed that by the time the Carpathia, outward bound from New York, and racing for the Titanic on a wireless call reached the scene, the doomed vessel had sunk.

Scene of Desolation.

Left on the surface, however, were lifeboats from the Titanic, and in them, as stated in the meager reports received up to a late hour, were some 670 survivors. These, according to the advices, the Carpathia picked up and is now on her way with them to New York.

For the rest, the scene as the Carpathia came up was one of desolation. All that remained of the $10,000,000 floating palace were some bits of wreckage. The greatest ship in the world had gone down, snuffing out in her downward plunge hundreds of human lives.

In the cabins were 230 women and children, but it is not known how many there were among the 740 third-class passengers.

In the first cabin there were 128 women and fifteen children and in the second cabin seventy-nine women and eight children.

A ray of hope appeared shortly before 11 o'clock last night in a message to New York from the operator at the Marconi Wireless station at Sable island, near the scene of the disaster. Answering an inquiry regarding the delivery of wireless messages to the passengers of the Titanic, the operator reported that it was difficult to deliver them, "as the passengers are believed to be dispersed among several vessels."

Eager After News.

Even this faint indication that other vessels than the Carpathia had picked up survivors of the Titanic was eagerly seized upon by thousands of relatives and friends of those who had set sail on her for this country.

The White Star line offices had endeavored vainly from 8 a. m. up till 11 p. m. to get further word from the Olympic about the Titanic. Vice President Franklin said at 11 o'clock they were still hopeful of getting another message last night.

The company also was trying to get into wireless touch with the Carpathia and filed a message asking that if possible the complete list of the names of the survivors said to be on board the Carpathia be sent by wireless.

Such a list, Vice President Franklin believed to be of the utmost importance, as hope was waning among the White Star line officials last night that any others than these had survived.

The Captain Goes Down.

Amid confusion at the offices the situation was studied as calmly as possible. Mr. Franklin figured that notwithstanding his fervent hope to the contrary, the Allan line steamers, Virginian and Parisian could hardly have reached the scene of the disaster in time to have been of assistance.

When the Virginian first reported catching the "S. O. S." signal she said she was not likely to be able to reach the Titanic before 10 a. m. yesterday morning. That would have been nearly eight hours after the Titanic sank.

It was equally doubtful that the Parisian could have reached the scene in time.

Mr. Franklin said from his knowledge of Captain Smith's gallantry and heroism on other occasions, the veteran navigator must have stuck to his bridge and gone down to his death.

No Rule of Sea.

There was discussion as to whether all of the male passengers had sacrificed opportunity to save themselves by giving women and children first chance at the boats.

"There is no rule of the sea," said Mr. Franklin, "which requires such a sacrifice. It is a rule of courtesy on land, as well as sea, that gallant men have often observed in time of disaster."

The White Star line officers figured from their data that the Olympic was forty miles from the scene of the Titanic's sinking when she sent the news of it at 7 o'clock last night. At that hour, the Carpathia was estimated to be 1,080 miles east of Sandy Hook.

A report from the Olympic states that the Leyland liner, California, was remaining and searching the vicinity of the disaster.

News of the terrible loss of life was limited in its circulation in the early evening, but by 9 o'clock it had brought great crowds of persons to the White Star line offices near the foot of Broadway.

Many Are in Tears.

Women were in tears and men were frantic after their plea for reassuring news was met with the frank admission that very little was known of the fate of passengers who were not in the first or second cabin.

All of the White Star line officials and subordinates available were on duty at the offices and planned to make a night of it.

The Titanic was bound from Liverpool to New York.

Steamship men here characterized the disaster as 'the most startling news which has come in from the sea since the advent of wireless telegraphy."

The first heard of the accident was about 1 o'clock yesterday morning, when a bulletin from Montreal stated that the Allan line offices there had received a wireless from Captain Gambel, of their steamer, Virginian, stating that the Titanic was calling for assistance after a collision with an iceberg.

The Virginian's captain added that he was heading his boat for the Titanic, whose position was said to be about 350 miles south of Cape Race, Newfoundland. Immediate inquiry in an urgent dispatch to the Marconi station at Cape Race was answered soon afterward in the following words:

Signal Sent Out.

"At 10:25 last night the steamship Titanic called S. O. S. and reported having struck an iceberg. The steamer said that immediate assistance was required. Half an hour afterward another massage came reporting that they were sinking by the head and the women were being put off in the lifeboats.

"The weather was calm and clear, the Titanic's wireless operator reported and he gave the position of the vessel as 41:46 north latitude and 50.14 west longitude.

The Marconi station at Cape Race notified the Virginia, the captain of which immediately advised that he was proceeding for the scene of the disaster.

The wireless operator on the Virginian said the Titanic's "signals were blurred and ended abruptly."

The presence of an unusually large number of icebergs in the path of transatlantic liners was indicated by wireless last week.

Twelve hours before the news of the Titanic's accident reached the world the serious menace of the icebergs was pointed out by the arrival here of the Cunard line steamer, Carmania, which reported having dodged twenty-five big bergs, some of them more than 250 feet high. The Carmania reported that the French steamship, Niagara, had had a worse experience, having bumped into two small bergs, which punched holes in her hull.

The Niagara had the experience on Thursday.

The Titanic undoubtedly ran into this same ice bank.

Lightning does most damage in level, open country. A town or city with its numerous projections and wires, is comparatively exempt.

LAST MESSAGE SENT BY ILL-FATED LINER

Washington, April 17.—What is believed to be one of the last messages sent from the Titanic before she struck the iceberg was received at the hydrographic office in Washington April 14, the day preceding the night on which the collision occurred. The message read:

"April 14—German steamer, Amerika, reported by Radio-Telegraph passing two large icebergs in latitude 41.27, longitude 50.18. Titanic."

This indicates that the Titanic had knowledge of ice in her vicinity as her position when she struck was latitude 41.46, longitude 50.14.

LINER, NIAGARA, HITS ICEBERG

At Almost Same Place Titanic Disaster Occurs.

NIAGARA LIMPS INTO PORT TODAY

Collision with Ice Creates a Panic on Board.

Force of Iceberg Jammed Against the Niagara Rocks the Vessel from Stem to Stern—Large Holes Are Torn in the Ship's Hull—Captain Has Hard Fight To Bring Liner into New York.

New York, April, 16.—With two patched-up holes in her bow, the result of a collision with an iceberg at almost the same spot where the Titanic came to disaster, the steamship, Niagara, limped into port today having been held up for almost twenty-four hours by the fog.

Thrilling stories of the accident were told by Captain M. Juham and the passengers. The force of the collision with the mighty mass of ice rocked the vessel from stem to stern and caused a panic in the steerage. While an examination was being made to determine the extent of the injuries, the "S. O. S." signal, the wireless call for help, was flashed into the night and was picked up by the Carmania. When it was learned that the damage was not serious and could be repaired by the ship's carpenter, the signal "O K" was flashed.

The holes in the hull were about four feet deep. One was just above the water line and the other below, permitting a quantity of water to pour in. With considerable difficulty they were patched up and the Niagara made her way to port unassisted.

"I had a hard fight to bring my ship in," said Captain Juham. "I never saw the ice so bad or so far south. We encountered bergs at forty-two degrees."

SENATOR FINEFROCK CALLED AS WITNESS

Appears Before the Franklin County Grand Jury.

APPEARANCE IS THE CAUSE OF RUMORS

Another Grand Jury Investigation and Inquiries as to Alleged Perjury in Cases Tried Is Now Expected—Speculation as to the Knowledge of the Senator.

Senator R. H. Finefrock, of Prospect, was a witness before the Franklin county grand jury, Tuesday. His appearance gave rise to renewed rumors of another grand jury bribery investigation and inquiries as to alleged perjury committed in those cases which have been tried, as well as to the mistrial in the Senator Huffman case. The fact that the grand jury will reconvene next Monday, added credence to the rumors. Wednesday's Ohio State Journal says:

Considerable speculation was rife yesterday concerning the appearance of Senator Finefrock as a witness. The prevailing belief is that he was called upon to give evidence as to bribery involving senators who escaped indictment during the first investigation. Senator Finefrock was subpenaed as witness for the defense in the Huffman case but was not called to testify.

The state was anxious to have Senator Finefrock take the stand in the Huffman case, as it hoped to draw from him facts as to legislative bribery, of which it believes he is in possession. The state says, fear that this would be the result if he were allowed to testify, caused the defense to pass him up.

Neither Prosecutor Turner nor Attorney General Hogan will forecast the work to be taken up by the grand jury, Monday. Both, however, have intimated that more sweeping investigation than the first probably might be made. They have admitted being in possession of evidence, which, were it a little stronger, would result in numerous other indictments being returned.

Some are of the belief that Mr. Finefrock was called before the grand jury to tell what he knew concerning the whereabouts of the group of senators who helped to establish an alibi for Senator Huffman, on the evening Senator Huffman and Cetone are alleged to have received $200 each from Dective Frank Harrison Smiley in room No. 31 of the Chittenden hotel.

The senators testified in the Huffman case they were attending a meeting of the taxation committee in the smoking room of the senate from 5 o'clock until 6 that evening. The money is alleged to have changed hands between 5:30 and 6 o'clock.

There are a lot of heroes in the world, but no woman ever seems to realize that she is married to one of them.

TWENTY PEOPLE LOST IN FLOOD

Drowned in Chicot County, Arkansas.

THE BODIES OF SIX VICTIMS RECOVERED

Hundreds of Families Living in Trees.

Talluha, Arkansas, Is Under Thirty Feet of Water and Every House in Village, It Is Expected, Will Be Washed Away—Federal Health Authorities Are Worried Over the Acute Conditions.

Memphis, Tenn., April 17.—Twenty people were drowned in the floods in Chicot county, Arkansas, according to reports received by the government engineers here today. A rescue party from Greenville, Mississippi, has recovered the bodies of six victims, according to the reports here. Hundreds of families are living in trees.

Talluha, Arkansas, is under thirty feet of water and every house in the village, it is expected, will be washed away.

Acute Conditions.

Washington, April 17.—According to a despatch received today by the United States public health and marine hospital service, flood conditions have become extremely acute and are threatening the federal quarantine station which guards New Orleans. The despatch states that levees are being thrown up about the station and that it is expected that telegraphic communication may be cut off at any time.

To Hold Conference.

Jackson, Miss., April 17.—Governor Brewer received a telegram this afternoon from Governor Donneghy, of Arkansas, asking him to meet the governors of Louisiana, Missouri and Arkansas at Helena next Saturday for a conference on the flood situation. Governor Brewer replied that he would be on hand. The governors of Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee will also be invited.

CLYDE RUSSELL DIES OF BLOOD-POISONING

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Russell Lose Little One.

Clyde Russell, aged five years, nine months and twelve days, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Russell, residing at the corner of east Mark and Patterson streets, Wednesday at 11 o'clock. The child had been ill for the past two weeks of a form of blood-poisoning.

The funeral services were held Friday, the hour not yet being decided on.

ARTHUR STRAW IS IN LUCK SUNDAY

LaRue, O., April 17.—[Special.]—Arthur Straw, a prosperous farmer residing southwest of this place, must have been born under a lucky star.

Last Sunday evening, when Mr. Straw was milking, the cow was killed by a thunderbolt and, although she fell on him, he escaped without injury.

The cow was killed instantly.

PUTS HARMON IN STONE AGE

Bryan Calls Governor "Prince of Reactionaries."

BOOSTS CANDIDACY OF NEW JERSEY MAN

He Declares Wilson Is a Real Pogressive.

Mr. Bryan Tells Columbus Jefferson Club Banqueters That He Has Devoted Time To Help Nominate Progressive Candidate for Presidency—Nebraskan Warns Against State Pride—His Speech.

Columbus, O., April 16. — Colonel William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska put in a full day in a campaign of heated attacks upon Governor Harmon's candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the presidency. He boosted Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey as a progressive.

Colonel Bryan spoke in Ravenna, Akron, Mansfield, Loudenville, Wooster and elsewhere before coming to Columbus to address the Jefferson club's banquet. Today he will speak in a number of cities and towns on his way to Steubenville. Previous to his appearance at the banquet, progressive Democrats met in conference here and gave out statements, saying they would carry all of the congressional districts in the state save the two in Hamilton county, the home of Governor Harmon. Only half a dozen districts were represented at the conference.

Governor Harmon was not present at the banquet to hear himself roasted. Colonel Bryan termed him Wall street's candidate and the prince of reactionaries. He made his principal points against Harmon's opposition to the Bryan cause in 1896 and his alleged support of "big business." Colonel Bryan received demonstrative applause from the 700 banqueters and cries of "No, no," when he said that others could poll more votes than he. He said that Thomas Jefferson fits in with the militant spirit of progress of the day and declared aristocracy was dying throughout the world.

Why He Is In Ohio.

"I am devoting my time to help nominate a progressive," said he. "The best way to do it is to keep a reactionary nomination. I am in Ohio to tell them not to allow state pride to indorse a prince of reactionaries. There's nothing personal in my opposition to Governor Harmon. I am just as friendly to him as he has been to me. The issue is the same as in 1896, the people against Wall street. The money question was merely an incident as the tariff is an issue now."

Colonel Bryan said that Governor Harmon, then 50 years of age, had joined with President Cleveland in opposing him in 1896, and said Harmon's sympathies haven't changed. He asked support for Governor Wilson and Wilson delegates. Governor Harmon had twice supported him (Bryan) for president after he had been nominated, which he said was quite different from supporting him before. Governor Harmon, he declared, knew of coercion used to best him in his three defeats.

He arraigned Governor Harmon for fighting him in Nebraska and promised the banqueters that if he were defeated for delegate he would go to Baltimore anyway. James J. Hill and J. P. Morgan favored Governor Harmon, he said.

"I know there hasnt been a campaign in which I couldn't have purchased the presidency if I would sell the people," said Colonel Bryan. He could have had the support of the interests if he had promised to name judges selected by them.

The speaker attacked Governor Harmon for attacking the initiative and referendum before the constitutional convention. No man, he said, was fit for the presidency who had broken a platform pledge. "Governor Harmon might do in the stone age; he won't do now," said Colonel Bryan.

RUBBER HOSE IS THE CAUSE OF SMALL FIRE

McDonald Home on Prospect Street Scene of Blaze.

A rubber hose used to connect a hot plate, was the cause of a small fire at the home of Mrs. Alice B. McDonald, on north Prospect street, shortly after 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The fire started in the room occupied by Edith Shetterly, in the upstairs part of the house. The rubber hose which connected the hot plate was melted off and the table, on which the stove was standing, caught fire. An alarm was sent to the fire departments, but pedestrians had the blaze nearly extinguished when the firemen reached the scene. The damage amounted to about $10.

Chief McFarland is the father of an ordinance presented to council a week ago to prohibit the use of rubber-hose connections for gas stoves. As a result of Tuesday's fire being due to the rubber-hose connection, the ordinance will probably be passed next Monday night.

ROLL OF DEATH NOW COMPLETE

Carpathia Fast Nearing New York City

LINER IS DUE TO DOCK TOMORROW

Thousands Will Be on Hand To Meet Her

All Restrictions on Making a Quick Entry into Port Are Removed by the Federal Authorities—Vessel Will Not Be Boarded by Customs Men and There Will Be No Immigration Inspectors

New York April 18—Latest wireless returns from the Carpathia indicate that the roll of the saved from the Titanic disaster is now complete It is now practically definitely known that only 332 of the 685 cabin passengers of the Titanic are safe on board the rescue ship The 353 cabin passengers whose names have not appeared in the lists sent ashore by wireless must probably be conceded as among the 1312 lives which the collision of the mammoth new steamer with an iceberg off the Newfoundland banks Sunday night is believed to have taken

Thousands of hopeful hearts were turned to despairing ones when the announcement was made that the United States cruisers Chester and Salem had relayed the names of the cabin passengers aboard the Carpathian to the government wireless station at Newport

Beyond even the mystery of how the mammoth Titanic met her fate another mystery evolved by the events of the past three days forced itself to the front

Within Wireless Zone

Although the rescue ship Carpathia was within the zone of wireless communication for hours and both shore stations and relaying ships were able to obtain from her long lists of survivors among the steerage passengers and to send and receive numerous short messages from and to private individuals not a word of matter descriptive of the manner in which the steamer received her death blow or how those on board the doomed liner comported themselves in the face of impending doom reached the shore

Given the names of the first and second cabin passengers and the assurance which the Carpathia furnished that she had no more of these to offer the word of worldwide interest demanded of the Cunarder was that which would reveal the long withheld secret of what took place on the Titanic decks when it became known that the fate of the liner was sealed

But the word was not spoken Neither was there any explanation for the coming in the surviving officers of the Titanic as to how the ship came to strike the hidden obstructed ocean From the Marconi offices word came that repeatedly when the wireless working conditions were practically perfect the Carpathia was asked to convey to the waiting world some idea of what were the momentous happenings on the Titanic in the terrible three hours and 40 minutes between the time when she struck the iceberg off the banks and that of her final plunge to the bottom

Say Operator Tired

One explanation was that the wireless operator of the Carpathia was exhausted as a result of his three days work at the key But among the list of the rescued on board the Carpathia is the second wireless operator of the Titanic who might have been counted upon to relieve the wearied sender of the Cunarder

In this disturbing silence rumors agitated the city One of these placed the loss of life at 2 but there was nothing more than an unverified dispatch as authority for the story Another which was widely circulated described the collision of the Titanic with the iceberg saying that the ship at 10 knots speed struck so hard that her framework buckled and that water poured in all the compartments except those in the midsection It was a story of panic and terrible scenes following instantly on the crash But the White Star line officials said they had received no such report and gave it no credence

Ship Anxiously Awaited

New York April 18—According to the latest advices received by the Cunard line the steamship Carpathia, with survivors from the Titanic should arrive at Sandy Hook at 9 o'clock this evening and get to the Cunard pier some time early tomorrow morning assuming weather conditions are such that Captain Barton of the Carpathia will venture to run through Ambrose channel into the bay

All restrictions on making a quick entry into port have been removed by the federal officials The liner will not be boarded by customs men and there will be no immigration inspectors

General Nelson H Henry surveyor of the port will have 40 inspectors at the pier

Mayor Gaynor sent a letter to Police Commissioner Waldo requesting him to make adequate arrangements for handling the crowds It is expected that there will be a great crowd at the Cunard pier when the Carpathia lands Under the rule made by Surveyor Henry passes have been issued only to near relatives of the survivors

At first there was talk that newspaper reporters would not be permitted on the pier but after talks between officials of the Cunard line representative of the White Star line and government official the understanding was that a fixed number of reporters from each paper would be allowed on the pier Letters have been received at the Cunard line offices protesting against the presence of reporters on the pier One of the letters was sent by J P Morgan & Company It was said that members of the Morgan family the Cassatts and the Astors had requested the Cunard people to keep reporters off the pier

More Added to List

New York April 18 This is a list of those saved by the Carpathia none of whose names is on the Titanic passenger list

Miss Antoinette Miss Appleyard Edward L Cameron Miss Edith Carsid William Charlton Miss Sarah Daniel Miss Nina Hope Miss L A Hold Mrs Oliver Melville Mr Nahan Mr L D Marks son Mr Elias Lemerey and Miss Nora Sadley

Saved by a Dream

London April Crowds continued at both of the White Star office and the police had to be called upon to keep the congestion

Another Titanic passengers was Charles Silvain the professional tennis champion of the world who was on his way to New York to play Standing the American champion for a stake of $5 000

It will be remembered that the Astor Cunard and Widener families were booked on the Titanic on March 5 but changed their minds and sailed on the Titanic April 10 The following month Mrs Astor and several fashionable Americans sailed for Egypt before the Titanic disaster

After a conference of all the White Star American business directors it was announced that the Titanic's passengers would be immediately recompensed

Hope Is Blasted

New York April All hope of the safety of the Titanic's passengers and crew was abandoned by officials of the White Star company at their offices in this city when a dispatch was received from Captain Rostron of the Carpathia announcing that the Titanic had gone down with all on board

Hayes Among the Rescued

Halifax April Among the passengers brought to this city by the Allan liner Virginian from Liverpool and Londonderry which arrived here this morning and passed Cape Race on the Carpathia

Complete list of Titanic survivors brought by the Carpathia will be found on the first page of the Star

ASTOR IS LOST, HIS WIFE SAVED

John Jacob Astor the multimillionaire who went down with the Titanic Astor and his young bride formerly Miss Madeline Force of New York were returning from a honeymoon trip Young Mrs Astor is among the survivors

PROPOSAL FOR RECALL TABLED

Trend of Discussion Foretells Its Defeat

MINORITY REPORT MOST CAUSTIC

The Convention Expresses Its Disapproval

Declares That Proposition To Retire Elective Officers at Will of People Is Obnoxious to Spirit of Our Constitution—Urges More Efficient Means of Impeaching Crooked Jurists—The Vote

Columbus O April 18—The constitutional convention by a vote of 50 to 42 expressed its disapproval of the proposition to take up and discuss the recall of public elective officials

The vote may settle the recall proposition so far as the convention is concerned

By substantial majorities the convention adopted a comprehensive proposal for conservation of natural resources and reconsidered and adopted the Pierce proposal which was defeated the day before to do away with capital punishment for crime If the Pierce proposal is ratified by the people at the polls there will be no more electrocutions at the penitentiary

Parliamentarians disputed over the status of the Watson recall proposal after the convention adjourned The question came up under a special order to adopt the minority report of the initiative and referendum committee which recommended indefinite postponement of the proposal The report was signed by Delegates Halfhill Dunlap Tampson and Evans The majority report recommended adoption of the proposal After brief discussion Mr Donahey moved to table both reports The motion carried 50 to 42 but clerks made a mistake in computation and President Bigelow announced its defeat 49 to 49 Before the mistake could be corrected the convention recessed

Two Radicals Flop

The action is declared to leave the proposal without prejudice in the committee and no further attempt may be made to report it out again as slight discussion has shown that the proposal will be defeated if it ever reaches a vote Two radicals Judge Peck and Mr Harris of Hamilton joined the conservatives in debate in opposing it The minority said of the proposal

In its entirety it is obnoxious to the spirit of our institutions and is a supplemental blow aimed at the integrity of representative government

That the judges of our courts being also elective public officers in this state and included within the scope of this proposal the same is a gratuitous assault upon the honor and integrity of our judiciary and no condition subsists or ever has existed in Ohio that remotely justifies creating any such procedure or making it a part of our fundamental law

That the duties of every elective public officer of this state are defined by the law of the land which lay their oath of office compels them to obey and support and if any transgress this obligation they should be tried by the law on charges duly made before a tribunal with orderly procedure under rules of evidence a knowledge of and subsisting in all stable governments and they should not be assailed from the hustings and tried at the polls by popular tumult or be compelled to face destruction of their honor through a verdict rendered by clamor or corruption or partisan prejudice

The minority recommended more efficient means of impeachment as a remedy for whatever fault exists with the judiciary The convention will consider the Dwyer proposal embodying his ideas today

RETURNS FROM SOUTHERN TRIP

Knox Refuses To Discuss Results of Mission

SAYS WELCOME MOST CORDIAL

Talks of Friendliness of Other Nations

Knox Scores United States Senate for Killing Arbitration Treaties with Amendments—Fears That Embarrassing Situations May Arise If the United States Does Not Help the Weaker Central American States

Washington April 18 — Secretary Knox returned to Washington after a two months round of friendly calls on the republics of Central America and the Caribbean The Knox party arrived at the Washington navy yard on board the president's yacht Sylph

Secretary Knox declined to comment upon the results his mission might have except to make the single prediction that the senate will ratify the Nicaraguan loan convention Mr Knox paid his respects to the senate in connection with the alteration of the arbitration treaties by that body since his departure The secretary declared in view of extreme care which the senate took to prevent any phase of the Monroe doctrine from ever being submitted to arbitration he felt more than ever convinced of the logic and wisdom of the United States helping the weaker republics to help themselves to avoid specific conditions which might prove embarrassing to the United States

It is well known there have existed in the United States a small coterie of directly interested persons who have been endeavoring to block reforms essential to the progress of some of the weaker republics

'What effect my visit may have in permanently improving our relations with and conditions in the countries I have visited is largely a matter of conjecture The means through which the president felt that good results might be accomplished were diligently employed

It was most gratifying to observe the genuine friendliness towards and interest in the people of the United States in all the countries I visited and the warmth of its manifestation when the real purpose of my mission was appreciated

OCEAN LINERS WRECKED BY ICEBERGS

Icebergs such as the one that spelled disaster for the Titanic are one of three sources of gravest peril to vessels navigating the North Atlantic The other two are fog and derelicts

The iceberg menace has been greater this spring than in any year

In the last fifty years there have been an even dozen disasters to big liners for which icebergs were responsible

A majority of these occurred off Newfoundland and the Grand Banks in the general vicinity of the Titanic's grave

The list of these disasters included

Ship Lost	Place	Year	Lives Lost
Canada	In Mid Atlantic	1862	1
Immigrant ship	off Cape Race	1864	18
Viking	off Cape Race	1881	1
Wah	Grand Banks	1885	29
North Star	Cabot Strait	1881	1
Melva	off Newfoundland	1887	29
Vanland	Grand Banks	1889	50
Slowah	Cape Race	1898	1
Labrador	Grand Banks	19	5
Isabella	off Alaska	1911	1
Allan	Mid Atlantic	19	22
Titanic	off Cape Race	1912	1342

The size of the bergs which have been encountered recently varies greatly but according to reliable reports bergs ranging from 50 to 100 feet to the top of its wall with pinnacle and spire extending to a height of 200 feet or more have not been unusual

Below the water some of these gigantic bergs extend a depth of probably 800 or 1 000 feet
